

A BIG BATCH OF BRIDES

Cupid Reaps an Abundant and Valuable Harvest in Stevens Point and Vicinity During the Past Few Days.

M'ALEAVEY-WAKEFIELD.

The first of three weddings to take place at St. Stephen's Catholic church this week, was observed at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, at which time Miss Mae Wakefield and Eugene McAlavey were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony, Rev. W. J. Rice officiating. Miss Daisy Wakefield, sister of the bride, assisted as maid of honor, with Fred. Schneider, of Wausau, as best man. The ceremony was witnessed by the relatives and a large number of friends of the contracting parties. The bride party arrived at the church promptly at the above hour, the first to enter being the maid of honor, Miss Daisy Wakefield, one of Wausau's favorite public school teachers, and she was followed by the bride, who was escorted by her father, Geo. T. Wakefield. They were met within the chancel railing by the groom and best man, and then the important words were pronounced by Father Rice. This was followed by a nuptial mass, for which the regular choir rendered the music. Roy Wakefield, brother of the bride, George Nelson and Max VanHecke, the latter of Merrill, acted as ushers at the church. The Wakefield residence, 413 Strong's avenue, was the scene of a happy gathering during the balance of the day, a number of friends of the family from the city and elsewhere having been invited to enjoy their hospitality, and a sumptuous four-course dinner, was served at 1 o'clock. Previous to this the groom was showered with congratulations and the bride with well wishes, and many handsome and valuable presents were received, some of them having been sent by friends from a distance. The bride was attired in an embroidered robe, over chiffon taffeta, wore a veil and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. The maid of honor was attired in a flowered silk mul over heliotrope, wore a picture hat and carried lavender crysanthemums.

The wedding dinner was prepared by Mrs. Kellar, caterer, and was served by the following young ladies: Misses Margaret Clifford, Janette McAuliffe, Hattie Langenberg, Claire Collins, Margaret Glennon, Stella Murat and Ramona Pfiffner.

The bride is one of Stevens Point's very best young ladies and sweetest girls. She is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. T. Wakefield, and like her mother, is a native of this city. She is an honor to her esteemed parents, a credit to the community in which she has always resided, and is deeply loved by all who share her acquaintance. The groom is local manager for the Wisconsin Telephone Co. at Stanley, where they will reside. His old home is at Ellsworth, this state, and he came to Stevens Point as a telephone electrician about four years ago, and was thereafter sent to Merrill as manager, and from there to Rhinelander, being transferred to Stanley several months ago. He is a bright, jolly and companionable young man, a first-class fellow in the best sense of that term, and withal a conscientious citizen and able, affable business man. That their pathway through life may be strewn with many blessings and few of the rough spots, is the wish of all friends.

Mr. and Mrs. McAlavey left on the 5:20 train for Chippewa Falls, going from there to Minneapolis to spend a couple of days and thence south to Omaha, Neb., where his brother, T. F., is manager for a telephone company. On their return they will commence housekeeping at once at Stanley. Friends present from out of the city in addition to those mentioned above were Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Webb and daughter, Miss Eva, of Milwaukee; Mrs. Prue O'Connor and daughters, Misses Elsie and Belle, of Merrill, Miss Alma Loberg, of Iowa, and Thos. E. Dever, of Milwaukee.

SPARROW-SANDEN.

There were chiming wedding bells that day, And their dainty echoes seemed to ring Clear and sweet upon the morning air. We thought of the loveliness away— The joy this morn'g seems to bring Love's bride and groom—tokens rich and rare.

Again has our group of pretty Knowlton girls been broken and the matrimonial band slyly encircled one of the dearest and best, teaching us that treasures are ours for a short time and before we are aware they are gone and others possess them. Miss Pearl Sparrow, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Sparrow, prominent and wealthy farmers of East Kaukauna, Wis., were united in marriage Saturday, Oct. 12th, at high noon in the double parlors beneath the veritable wedding bell at the bride's home. The nuptial service was solemnized by Rev. Wilson Mallory of Stevens Point. Miss Sadie Herman acted as bridesmaid and C. Sparrow, a brother of the bride, attended the groom. Mrs. J. W. Archibald of Stevens Point filled the place as matron of honor.

The bride was handsomely gowned in white silk chiffon over white taffeta, with rich lace trimmings. She carried a beautiful bouquet of bride roses. The bridesmaid wore white silk and Mrs. Archibald looked stately in a becoming dress of white.

At one o'clock all repaired to the large and commodious dining room, where a sumptuous dinner was served. Many handsome and useful presents were received, together with a purse containing silver and gold.

The bride is an accomplished and beautiful young lady. She graduated from the Wausau training school three years ago, since which time she has been counted among Marathon county's most successful teachers. Mrs. Sanden is endowed with all the attributes of heart and character which are essential to a happy home. The groom has formed a pleasing acquaintance here during his visits to our vicinity. He is a fireman on the N. W. R. R., with headquarters at Antigo. He seems to possess a character that is worthy the treasure he has found. Mr. and Mrs. Sanden left on the 6:45 p. m. train for Antigo, their home for the present. They left amid showers of rice, good will of their friends and the sincere congratulations of all. May their lives be like unto a long summer day.

Knowlton, Wis., Oct. 14, 1907.

PLUMY-KULIK.

Miss Lena Kulik, a popular young lady resident of the North Side, and Paul Plumy, of Brokaw, were married at St. Peter's church at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning by Rev. L. J. Pescinski. The attendants were Miss May Cyra, bridesmaid, and Peter Lacheski, a half-brother of the bride, as best man. A reception was held throughout the day and evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Catherine Lacheski, 549 Prentice street, where many friends called to extend their well wishes. Mr. and Mrs. Plumy will leave here this evening for Brokaw, where the young man is employed in the paper mill. He is a native of this county, the town of Sharon being his home until a few months ago. Of an industrious disposition and the possessor of a goodly amount of hard common sense, he is destined to succeed in life's work. The bride has always lived in Stevens Point and is one of our most esteemed young ladies. Many good wishes will follow them to their new home in Marathon county.

KIEL-HALL.

Mrs. Grace Maine Hall, of this city, and Hugo Kiel, of DePere, as briefly announced in last week's issue of the Gazette, were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Maine, 117 N. Division street, at 8 o'clock last Wednesday evening, the ceremony being performed by Rev. E. A. Nimitz, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. church. There were no attendants, but the immediate relatives of the contracting parties, together with several of their more intimate friends, witnessed the interesting ceremony. The parlors were decorated with autumn leaves and berries and the surroundings were most inviting. A sumptuous supper was served, following the congratulations of the assembled guests, and thereafter a pleasant two hours were spent by all, and well wishes were extended to the bride and groom before their departure on the 2:30 o'clock train for Chicago, in which city, and also at Manitowoc, a few days have been pleasantly passed. Mr. and Mrs. Kiel will reside at DePere, where they will be at home after Nov. 1st. The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Maine, and this city has been her home much of her life, except a few years when she resided at Dale. She is a very estimable lady, one whose friends are numerous. Mr. Kiel is cashier of the National bank of DePere, and appears to be an excellent young man.

Those present from out of the city were a sister of the groom, Mrs. H. Sponteng, her husband and little son of Manitowoc, Richard Kiel, of DePere, a twin of the groom, Mrs. Ethel Loveland of Chicago, Mrs. Leah Gilbert Aune of Minneapolis, Miss Mable Whitney of Dale, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jeffers, of DePere, the latter being a sister of the bride.

QUINN-KINGSBURY.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Stephen's church this morning at 8 o'clock, when Father Rice united in marriage Charles N. Quinn and Miss Florence D. Kingsbury, two of Stevens Point's worthiest young people. Miss Mamie Clifford and Fred Quinn, a brother of the groom, acted as bridesmaid and best man. Miss Kingsbury was gowned in a brown traveling suit and Miss Clifford wore a blue crepe du chien.

Breakfast was served at the Quinn home, 301 N. Second street, and at 10:05 o'clock the bridal pair left for a trip to Chicago and Milwaukee. They will also visit the groom's sister, Mrs. J. F. Ryan, at Waupaca, before returning. After Nov. 1st the young couple will be at home at 301 N. Second street. Among the out of town guests at the wedding were the bride's aunt, Mrs. Mary York, of Centralia, Wash., and Geo. Quinn and wife, of Mosinee.

The bride is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kingsbury, of Ramona, Ind. Ter., and has resided in this city all of her life. She graduated from our High school last June, and since the removal of her parents to the south, a few years ago, she had made her home with her grandmother, Mrs. J. R. Kingsbury. She is of a cheerful, sunny disposition, good character and bright mind, admired by all who know her. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Quinn, and is a bright, happy-hearted and popular young man. He is employed as a lineman for the Wisconsin Telephone company, and is in all respects able to make a success of life. The Gazette joins with friends of both bride and groom in wishing them a long and pleasant journey here below.

DEVER-LANGENBERG.

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Langenberg, 145 Main street, at precisely 9 o'clock, this forenoon, their daughter, Miss Katharine Emilie, became the bride of Thomas Edward Dever. The ceremony consisted of the simple ring service and was performed by Rev. John A. Stemen, pastor of the Presbyterian church, beneath a wedding bell framed of bitter sweet and autumn leaves. The immediate relatives and a number of intimate friends of the young couple were present to witness the ceremony and wish them God-speed on their journey through life. The parlor, sitting room and dining room were all neatly decorated with bitter sweet and autumn leaves, and everything within, as well as without, appeared replete with sunshine and good cheer. Following the ceremony a sumptuous wedding breakfast was served by Mrs. E. H. Rothman and the Misses Alma Loberg, Susie Wilson, Claire Collins and Lulu and Elizabeth Ceary.

Mr. and Mrs. Dever left on the 12:20 train for Chicago, where they will spend several days on a wedding tour, and will then return to Stevens Point for a brief stay before departing for their new home in Milwaukee. They will board for the present with Mrs. E. Behrens at 310 19th street. There were no attendants at the ceremony. The bride was attired in white net and Duchess lace over taffeta and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Many costly and handsome wedding presents were received, including a goodly quantity of cash in the form of checks and bank notes.

The bride is the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Langenberg, is a native of Stevens Point and one of our most sensible, worthy and courteous young ladies, held in high esteem by all who have the pleasure of her acquaintance. The groom is a native of Chippewa Falls, but came to Stevens Point to attend our Normal five years ago, graduating from that institution in the class of 1904. Thereafter he entered the employ of the Langenberg Manfg. Co., remaining with them until a few months ago, since which time he has been on the road as a traveling salesman for Ricketson & Schwarz, dealers in all kinds of brick, with headquarters in Milwaukee. He is not only a young man of good education and bright attainments, but is also a first-class business man, and has the faculty of making friends wherever he goes. The well wishes of all are extended the bride and groom for a long and happy future.

Relatives and friends in attendance from a distance were James and Frank Dever, father and brother of the groom, of Butternut, Mrs. John M. Weeks, of Columbus, sister of the bride, Mrs. Geo. Langenberg of Medford, a sister-in-law, Thos. H. Dowling, of Eau Claire, Mrs. Anna Dowling, of Baraboo, and Mrs. Behrens of Milwaukee.

ISHERWOOD-KARNER.

Harry Isherwood, Jr., and Miss Anna Marie Karner were united in marriage at St. Joseph's Catholic church this morning at nine o'clock by Rev. H. J. Ehr, the pastor. They were attended by Joseph Phillips as best man and Miss Margaret Karner, a sister of the bride, as bridesmaid. A wedding breakfast followed at the Karner home, 328 Fremont street, where a reception is being held throughout the day. Mr. and Mrs. Isherwood will leave here on the limited train tonight for Chicago and may possibly continue their journey to Fall River, Mass., to visit a few days with the groom's uncle, John Colthurst. The out of town guests at the event are J. Clark of Monmouth, Ill., Chas. Zinnel of Fond du Lac, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Isherwood, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Isherwood, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Colthurst, Grace and Clara Isherwood of Plover. The bridal couple will return here in a couple of weeks and go to housekeeping at 1302 Clark street.

Mr. Isherwood is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Isherwood, pioneer residents of Stevens Point, and he has always made his home in our city. For the past several years he has filled the position of baggageman at the Green Bay depot, and is a very worthy young man. The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Karner, who are also numbered among our old residents. She is an estimable young lady and starts out on life's journey with the sincere well wishes of scores of friends.

Instructor on the Violin.

The Minot, N. D., Daily Reporter mentions the fact that "Prof. Anton Oesterle, the well known violinist, has taken a position with Prof. Dunaevski as teacher of the violin. He will have entire charge of this department." Mr. Oesterle is a son of Mr. and Mrs. August Oesterle, of Sharon, and has been located at Minot for a year or more.

Big Factory at Merrill.

W. B. Baker, millwright in general charge of the new manufacturing plant being built by the Collar-Stange Lumber Co. at Merrill, spent Sunday at his home in McDill. The corporation is composed of Mr. Collar, A. H. Stange and John Van Hecke and they are building under one roof a saw mill, box factory and veneer mill. The box factory will be completed this fall, but the other departments will not be ready for operation until next spring. The lumber mill will be equipped with a band saw and horizontal resaw. The company owns sufficient timber to keep the plant in operation for 25 years. Mr. Baker is ably assisted in construction work by Chas. H. McCann of this city.

Enjoyed the Event.

Alexander Krembs, Sr., returned from Milwaukee and Chicago, Sunday morning, having visited the latter city for the purpose of attending the wedding of his son, Anton C., which took place on Thursday afternoon last, the bride being formerly Miss Harriet Kerns, Mrs. Krembs and sons, Alex., Jr., Moritz and Franz, were also there. Mrs. Krembs was taken ill on the way to Chicago, and after the wedding ceremony was unable to attend the banquet that followed, and was ill at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Moritz Krembs, for a few days thereafter. An uncle of the groom, Wm. Biegler, of Hayward, was among the guests present, and there were also a number of relatives and friends present from Milwaukee and Chicago. The wedding dinner, which was served at the Auditorium Annex, was an elaborate affair and was greatly enjoyed.

ALONG THE WISCONSIN.

Publication Just Issued by A. Decker. Is Nicely Illustrated With Cuts of Persons, Buildings and Scenes.

"Along the Wisconsin River," a neat work of nearly 100 pages, published by A. Decker, of Grand Rapids, and containing various views from Portage north to Tomahawk, has just been issued, and in his introductory Mr. Decker says, "If this little publication receives the support and encouragement that is promised, it will be published quarterly for the coming year." Among the local illustrations are the following: The Reversible Tire Protector Co. of this city, showing its owners, Messrs. Anders, Van Hecke and Frost, the Jacobs House, the residences of E. A. Arenberg, W. J. and John W. Clifford, E. J. Pfiffner and Aug. Goerke, while there are pictures of the late Philip Rothman and M. Wadleigh, cuts of the Wisconsin State bank, Jackson Milling Co. plant, John Week Lumber Co. mill, G. L. Margraf, Wm. R. Johnson, Ringness, the shoe man, Mayor Hanna, Prof. John N. Davis, Portage county officials, High school, W. B. Buckingham, Taylor Bros. drug store, Palace bakery, Stevens Point Normal, Alex. Krembs, Jr., drug store, Citizens National bank, Miss Alta Sherman and the Stevens Point postoffice employees and local and rural letter carriers.

The work is neat and attractive, handsomely printed, a good advertisement for the towns mentioned, and also no doubt a source of profit to the publisher.

Foot Ball Notice.

On Saturday next the Normal foot ball team will meet the team representing the Oshkosh Normal school on the fair grounds. The game will begin at 3 p. m. sharp and promises to be one of the best contests played on the home grounds this season. Prices: General admission, 25 cents; students' tickets, 15 cents. Don't forget the day and hours, Saturday, Oct. 19th, at 3 p. m.

Poles Set and Wires Strung.

The new telephone line from this city to Torun, running via Arthur Van Order & Son's flouring mill, above Jordan, is now practically complete, the poles having been set and the wires placed thereon. There are seven subscribers on the line at the present time, and the telephones will be installed within the next week or ten days. Connection is made direct with the central office in this city, and communication can be made, without toll, in the same manner from Stevens Point.

Was a Great Outing.

The party of Stevens Pointers, Geo. L. Rogers, J. S. Pipe, W. L. Playman, W. L. Bronson, John Martini and Ernest Viertel, together with Carroll Hamilton, of Houghton, returned from their trip up the river, last Saturday afternoon, and report a most enjoyable outing, the finest they ever had. The trip was made on the steamer Wisconsin, with Nat. Towle as engineer and Mr. Bronson as pilot, and they camped a short distance above Knowlton, being sheltered from the wind by high banks on either side, and sufficient fish were caught and game was bagged to provide the camp with choice meals. The claim was made that Mr. Hamilton increased 15 pounds in weight, but he says the actual increase is 9 pounds in 4 days, or 2 pounds per day, and the bleak winds from Lake Superior will not have as great a terror for him in the future as in the past.

Mrs. Madge Agnew Corbin.

A telegram received by Mrs. A. G. Cate, of Amherst, brings the sad announcement of the death of her niece, Mrs. John Corbin, at Fairchild, Mich., on Thursday last. The end came suddenly, and is supposed to be due to diphtheria, as an epidemic of the disease is said to have visited the above place. The deceased was formerly Miss Madge Agnew, the second daughter of A. J. Agnew, of Detroit, and the years of her childhood and early womanhood were spent in Stevens Point. A few years ago she was married to Dr. John Corbin, of Westfield, N. J., in which city they resided, and Mrs. Corbin was on a visit to relatives at Fairchild when taken ill. Besides her husband, father and sister, she is survived by one child, 10 months old. Mrs. Corbin will be kindly remembered by very many of our citizens as a most estimable young lady, pure, kind and good, and the announcement of her taking away brings sadness to all.

Ennors is Appreciated.

The Sentinel of last Saturday contained the following complimentary words for John Ennor, the well known Stevens Point traveler: "Splendid illustrations and entertaining verbal descriptions, interspersed with interesting personal experiences made the initial Friday afternoon travelogue with which John Ennor opened his course at the Crystal theatre yesterday a most attractive entertainment. These travelogues, which will take the place of the moving pictures at the Friday afternoon shows, promise to become a popular feature at the Crystal. If the success which accompanied the inauguration of the scheme is any indication, Mr. Ennor, the travel talker who has been in every part of the United States in connection with his work as official photographer with several large railroads, took his audience of yesterday from Washington to Denver and next week the journey will be continued from that point. The pictures shown are from photographs taken by Mr. Ennor, many of them from the rear platform of his private car."

Their First Dancing Party.

The first social dancing party to be given by the local council, Knights of Columbus, was given at Rothman's Hall, Monday evening, in commemoration of the landing of Columbus on American soil. Between forty and fifty couples were present, and excellent music for dancing was furnished by the Union orchestra, with Fred Millberry as caller. At 11:30 a nice luncheon was served at the Palace of Sweets, and dancing was kept up until after 2 o'clock in the morning. The country members of the council and their invited guests, who turned out in good numbers, are entitled to much credit for the interest shown by them in making the event a social success.

More Locals.

A leather suit case was found on the road near McDill, last Saturday. The owner may recover the property by calling at this office.

W. O. Bozlee, who recently returned from the west, has been experiencing a siege with typhoid fever, but is gradually improving.

Prof. W. E. Allen, who is soon to move from Eau Claire to Spokane, Wash., is visiting among relatives and friends here for a day or two.

M. E. Means, who owns one of the best summer resorts among the northern lakes, it being located a short distance out from Hazelhurst, came down this afternoon to visit among old friends here a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Lamoreux and daughter, Miss Iza, of Ashland, and Chas. A. Lamoreux, of Milwaukee, are in the city, called here by the illness of their brother, W. O. Lamoreux, who is very low today and his death is momentarily expected.

At a meeting of creditors, stockholders and others interested in the Western Wall Paper Mills of this city, held before the referee in bankruptcy at Madison, yesterday, Frank Turnell, the secretary of the company, was appointed permanent receiver.

The Wahp-si-pun-ne-kans didn't indulge in a pow-wow, but they had a real good time nevertheless, last evening, at the home of Mrs. Chas. F. Raymond, on Water street. Besides the regular members of the club Mrs. Raymond entertained Mrs. J. V. Collins, Mrs. E. D. Glennon, Mrs. John W. Glennon and Mrs. G. E. Oster, substitutes.

Mrs. John Collins and Mrs. Margaret Wiesen, of Rhinelander, Mr. J. Aich and son and daughter, Albin and Miss Camilla, of Fond du Lac, and Mrs. D. B. Collins and little daughter, of Fargo, N. D., are among the out of town guests who have arrived to attend the Vance-Aich wedding tomorrow. The last named lady is a sister of the bride-to-be.

Anton C. Krembs and bride returned from their wedding tour, Tuesday evening, and are at home at the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Krembs, on Main street. At about midnight they were given a "musical" serenade by a number of their male friends, and the groom was then "treated" to an automobile ride to the Oesterle home in Sharon.

An auto party composed of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McMillan and three daughters, Misses Margaret and Katherine and Mrs. Thornton Green and her two sons, of Fond du Lac, arrived in this city this afternoon to visit Mrs. McMillan's mother, Mrs. J. L. Prentice, and sister, Mrs. C. C. Conlisk, while on their way for a visit at Wausau and McMillan in their White Steamer machine.

Mrs. Wm. Reading, who has been very ill at her home on Briggs street, is in a dying condition as The Gazette goes to press this afternoon. Her sons, George Needham, of Milwaukee, and John Needham, of Beloit, and her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Flint of Council Bluffs, Iowa, have been in the city for several days assisting in caring for the aged lady, as have also Mrs. Byron Smith and daughter Hazel, of Council Bluffs.

THE PUPILS ENTERTAIN.

The Annual Supper and Entertainment at High School for Benefit of Athletic Association, is a Success.

There was a large attendance and a jolly crowd at the local High school, last Saturday evening, when a supper and entertainment were given for the benefit of the Athletic Association in connection with that school. Supper was served by the teachers of the public schools, assisted by the young lady students of the High school, and tables were placed along the corridor on the first floor, while on the upper floor there were various booths for the amusement of the guests and for the financial benefit of the association. There were also other attractions, including a so-called wild animal show, which occupied the science room, and nothing was omitted for the pleasure of the patrons. A farce entitled "Turn Him Out," was presented by the following cast of characters: Mackintosh Moke, Carl Katerndahl, Julia, his wife, Ramona Pfiffner, Susan, a maid, Merle Young, Roseleaf, a dude, J. M. Bigelow, Nicodemus Nols, a Dutchman, Sam, a porter, L. W. Park, James, a porter, Lyman Cops. All performed their respective parts to the satisfaction of the spectators. The net proceeds will amount to about $90.

Bids Wanted.

The undersigned will receive proposals up to and including Friday, Oct. 25th, 1907, for erecting a tower on St. Patrick's church, Lanark, Wis. Plans and specifications may be seen at parsonage adjoining the church. Rev. J. E. Meagher, route 2, Amherst, Wis.

WAS BURIED IN A WELL

Nicholas Meagel, Young Man of the Town of Amherst, Meets With a Sad Fate This Morning.

Nicholas Meagel, a young man about 20 years of age, met with a sad fate at the farm home of John Kubisiak, southwest of Amherst Junction, at about 8 o'clock this morning. With John Ropella and others he had been engaged in digging a well for Mr. Kubisiak, and had gone down about 50 feet. This morning young Meagel went to the bottom to take out the false curbing used in the process of digging, when suddenly the earth, a gravel formation, commenced to cave above him, and in less time than it takes to tell the tale, his body was covered by about 25 feet of earth. His fellow workmen were horrified, and Ropella immediately started for this city to notify the young man's father, Vincent Meagel, who had driven to town this morning. The latter was found on the public square, but took the news very coolly when informed of the fate of his son, seeming to be in no hurry to leave for the scene of the accident. That the young man had met with practically instant death, seems probable, but when Ropella left this morning, no effort had yet been commenced to recover the body. The Meagel home is about three and one-half miles southwest of Amherst Junction, in the town of Amherst.

Are Some Big Yields.

It is undoubtedly true that the potato crop throughout Portage county will not average with previous years, due to blight and other causes, but in some instances the yield has proven abundant. August Oesterle, in the town of Sharon, gathered 1,500 bushels from seven acres, and for two loads he brought to the city last Saturday he received 43 cents per bushel. At the same rate the crop from his seven acres would bring him $645, which is not considered bad from a business point.

Will Wed in Milwaukee.

Among the marriage licenses issued in Milwaukee last Monday was one to Adolph Hoeffler and Miss Palma Boreson. Both are former Stevens Pointers, Mr. Hoeffler being the son of Henry Hoeffler and for several years was engaged in business here. Since going to Milwaukee he has dealt extensively in musical merchandise, making a specialty of electric pianos, and has succeeded wonderfully well. Miss Boreson is a daughter of M. Boreson and wife and a sister of Mrs. Robt. Porter. She has been Mr. Hoeffler's private secretary for a few years.

Passenger and Freight Collision.

The Wisconsin Central limited passenger train, No. 3, due here at 1:45 o'clock this morning, did not reach Stevens Point until after 10 today and was followed about 15 minutes later by train No. 1, the arriving time of which is 6:47 a. m. The long delay was caused by a wreck on the road between Theresa and Allenton, Fond du Lac county, about 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when south-bound passenger train No. 2 was in a head-on collision with a freight. Both engines were literally smashed into scrap iron, and several cars were also badly wrecked. The crews on both engines jumped in time to avoid serious injuries beyond a few scratches. The property loss will amount to several thousand dollars.

SYLVESTER W. KING DEAD

Had Been a Resident of Portage County for Over Forty Years—Was Born in New York State.

Sylvester W. King died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. O. Bozlee, 712 Wisconsin avenue, at 7 o'clock this morning. Three weeks ago Mr. King injured one of his fingers, but it was not thought to be serious until Friday evening, when he was taken with a chill and at this time it was noticed that his hand was greatly swollen, blood poisoning having set in. Thereafter he remained in an unconscious condition most of the time up to the hour of his death.

Sylvester W. King was born July 27, 1828, in Cayuga county, N. Y., but when he was a year old his mother died, leaving two sons. Two years later his father married again and when Sylvester was 14 years old they moved to Lake county, Ill. In 1849 he crossed the western plains and the Rocky mountains to Sacramento, Cal., and remained one and one-half years, when he returned to make Illinois his home for about one year and then went back to California, remaining in the latter state the same length of time he did on his first visit to the far west. May 27, 1855, he was married to Delilah Smith and shortly thereafter they moved to this county, locating in the town of Almond, where they resided for 40 years and for 12 years of this time Mr. King was a mail carrier. Four years ago, when old age compelled him to give up farming, he removed to this city and purchased a home. Four children were born to them, Geo. W., Chas. C. and Ida C. King and Mrs. Ethel E. Bozlee. Chas. and Ida are dead. The aged parents have resided with Mrs. Bozlee for some time. Mr. King was always a kind, conscientious, obliging and hard working man and esteemed neighbor. He was greatly respected by those who knew him best and to the aged wife and remaining children, George being a resident of Michigan, the sympathy of friends goes out.

The funeral will be held at the Christian Endeavor chapel at 9 o'clock next Friday morning, Rev. C. F. Spray, of St. Paul's M. E. church, officiating, followed by interment in Lone tree cemetery.

Auction Sale.
On Saturday, Oct. 19th, 1907, at the farm home of the late Daniel O'Connell, in Buena Vista, there will be an auction sale of mules, horses and other stock, farm implements, stove wood, etc., all to go to the highest bidder. The sale will commence at 1:30 in the afternoon, and this will be a chance for farmers and others to buy.

Horse For Sale.
I have one horse, true and sound, weighs nearly 1,400 pounds. Will sell at a bargain if taken soon. Henry Ward, Stockton. Address Stevens Point, R. F. D. No. 1.

Much merriment of a more or less innocent sort has been caused by the "test ride" of a number of Washington army officers who have been up for promotion in the past week. It is the first time in the history of the service that it has not been taken for granted that an army officer who could still walk could also ride. But this is a fallacy as everyone knows who has seen any mature man holding down an arm chair. The result was that an order was issued three weeks ago for the army officers in Washington who were preparing for physical examination to prepare also for the test ride. Many of them who knew their riding was a bit obsolete, did practice in advance and the price of gentle saddle horses at the local livery stable went up several percent. But at the last moment the war department issued an order that no horses could be used in the ride who did not have a "square unequivocal trot." This so disheartened two of the prospective riders that they dropped out before the ride began and three others of them had to quit by reason of "physical disability" at the end of the first ten miles. All those who finished the ride were stiff and sore and several of them will be adversely recommended by the Retirement Board when they come up for their usually perfunctory examination.

Hard Times in Kansas.
The old days of grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today; although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says: "I was worn out and discouraged by coughing night and day, and could find no relief till I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." The safest and most reliable cough cure and lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed by H. D. McCulloch Co. 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Seed Wanted.
I will pay top prices for clean, pure seed oats, barley, rye, clover, alfalfa and timothy. Send samples and state amount you will have for sale. Don't sell until you get my bid. Address, L. C. Brown, La Grange, Illinois. s25w4

Bargain in Real Estate.
A residence and two lots at the corner of Clark street and Michigan avenue, can be secured at a bargain, if taken at once. For price and particulars enquire of The Gazette, Stevens Point.

Opportunity to Make Money.
The undersigned has discovered a remarkable protection to animals, including horses, cattle, etc., against flies, pests and insects of all kinds. A small quantity is guaranteed to keep flies and insects from the animal for two days at a time, which is four times as long as any other remedy heretofore discovered. I wish to dispose of the complete right to manufacture and sell, selling my formula to one person or firm. Great opportunity for some one. Address John Solik, Stevens Point, Wis., rural route 2. j24tf

If taken patiently and persistently will relieve the most obstinate case of indigestion, constipation, bad blood, bad liver, no matter how long standing. That's what Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will do. 35 cents, tea or tablets. H. D. McCulloch Co.

Mrs. V. P. Atwell is visiting at the home of her brother, Ensign Boyington, at Freport, Ill., to remain several weeks.

Mrs. Jas. H. Delaney and three children, of Amherst, spent Friday and Saturday in the city visiting among friends, and transacting business.

Fred Timm, who spent over a month in the city assisting in caring for his brother, the late Aug. Timm, returned to his duties in Milwaukee last Friday.

Victor Platta, who is employed as clerk in the general store of Wildering & Westerfield, at Hatley, left for home on Wednesday evening last after spending several days visiting at the old home in the town of Sharon.

Doctor Seerist, the Chicago specialist, comes to Stevens Point, Jacobs House, once a month. This is the Doctor's 10th year in the county. You need not pay until after cured. Consultation absolutely free. See advertisement.

The Wisconsin Central Y. M. C. A. at Fond du Lac, has issued a program of speaking for the coming winter, and among the speakers are Geo. Wakefield, of this city, and O. H. Ecke, a former Stevens Pointer, but now of Fond du Lac.

A. Lorenzo, formerly of this city, but now a resident of Milwaukee, spent last Friday night in Stevens Point. Accompanied by his family, Mr. Lorenzo visited Europe during the past summer, seeing various cities and points of interest.

"The Sweetest Girl in Dixie" was greeted by many admirers at the Grand, last Wednesday evening, and as she was supported by a strong cast of characters, all went away pleased, hoping she will come again. The audience was a large one, as each has been at every performance at the Grand this season.

Jas. Tovey, of Stockton, president of Custer Union A. S. of E., will leave for Indianapolis, next Sunday or Monday, to attend the annual national convention of that body. Mr. Tovey will represent the Portage County Union, and each of the local unions in the county is also entitled to a delegate for each fifty members.

Joseph and Peter Specht, of this city, attended the funeral of their sister, Mrs. Mary Lessor, at Green Bay, last Saturday, she having passed away at Oconto on Wednesday, aged 48 years. Death was caused by cancer of the breast, after a long illness. She leaves four sons, three daughters and two stepchildren. Another brother, John, lives at Marshfield.

Hon. Myron Reed, a former well known attorney at Waupaca, but who removed from that city to Superior eighteen years ago, died at the home of his son, Jos. M. Reed, in Minneapolis, last Wednesday, aged 73 years. The remains were brought to Waupaca for interment, the funeral taking place Saturday. Besides his widow and son above mentioned, one daughter, Mrs. W. H. Weed, of Weyauwega, is left.

Mrs. C. W. Simonson and sister, Miss Helen Quaife, will return from Mason City, Iowa, this week, where they have been visiting their brother, Dr. H. A. Quaife, for a few days. They also attended the wedding of another brother, Dr. L. A. Quaife, of Rosalia, Wis., who was married to Miss Louise Woodbridge, of Nashua, Iowa. Miss Emma Winne, their niece, accompanied them.

The largest and best assortment of pail and box candies can now be found at Jacobson's fruit store, at right prices.

Frank E. Targart, manager of the Pioneer Graphite Co. plant at Junction City, transacted business in the city last Thursday. This company has enjoyed a most successful year, keeping their mill running much of the time, and their output is larger than ever before.

A. J. Eimermann, a Milwaukee attorney, is now the owner of forty acres of land in each of the towns of Belmont and Linwood and twenty-five lots and a small amount of unplatted land in the city heretofore owned by R. H. Butterfield. Mr. Eimermann acted as attorney for Mr. Butterfield in the proceedings and petition for a pardon from prison.

Herman Buelow, of Belmont, was arraigned in county court, last Saturday, charged with assault and battery, the complainant being Frank Elzey, a tenant on a farm owned by the defendant. The examination was adjourned until Friday of next week. Buelow pleading not guilty, and he was allowed to go on his own recognizance.

Misses Merle Cartmill and Mamie Clifford entertained a number of their young lady friends at the home of the former, on Clark street, last Thursday evening, in honor of Miss Florence Kingsbury, who is now the bride of Chas. Quinn. A four course luncheon was served, and the guest of honor was given a shower of tinware, consisting of a complete kitchen outfit.

Miss Ida Dwinell left for Madison, Saturday morning, to accept a position as stenographer in the office of A. E. James, state statistician, at a salary of $60 per month. Miss Dwinell secured the position under the civil service ruling, having taken the examination last August. She will reside with her sister, Mrs. Rhoads, in that city. For over two years she had been employed as stenographer in the office of McFarland & Murat.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Thomas, of Chicago, spent a couple of hours in this city, last Friday, the former coming down from Marshfield to meet Mrs. Thomas, who had been visiting at her former home in Green Bay. Mr. Thomas is engaged in the advertising business in Chicago, where he has been for the past four years. He is a graduate of the Stevens Point Normal, class of 1902, and his wife, formerly Miss Ruby Farrell, graduated from the elementary course the same year.

Lands Will be Made Valuable.
The Dancy Drainage Commission has sold bonds to the amount of $150,000 to the Trowbridge-Niver Bonding Co. of Chicago, and it is the present intention to award contracts so that the work of dredging may be commenced next spring. The district comprises marsh and swamp lands in Portage, Marathon and Wood counties, and with drainage they will be made among the most valuable of any in the counties named. The main ditch will be eleven miles in length. Geo. Reynolds, of Marshfield, is president of the commission, Geo. G. Knoller, of Dancy, secretary, and J. P. Malick, of this city, treasurer.

Former Stevens Pointer Exonerated.
Henry C. Roe, of Fond du Lac, an engineer on the Central, who was arrested on the charge of manslaughter in connection with a wreck at Lake Buelah, several months ago, in which a brakeman named Jordan lost his life, was found not guilty by a jury at Elkhorn, last week, after a two days' trial. It was charged that Engineer Roe went to sleep on his engine, and a collision resulted. Henry is a former Stevens Point boy, the oldest son of the late Benjamin Roe, and spent much of his life in this city. His mother moved to Fond du Lac after the death of her husband, a number of years ago. He is a cousin of Ald. Walter B. Eddy.

Will Have a Model Home.
D. J. Leahy is having his residence, at 1220 Main street, thoroughly remodeled on the interior, including new hardwood floors, etc. A basement has been placed beneath the entire house and a hot water heating plant will be put in by Jas. E. Sullivan & Co. The house is also being materially enlarged by the addition of a new hall, bath and toilet room. When completed Mr. Leahy will have one of the finest homes in that pleasant part of the city, and the improvements and additions will represent an outlay of about $2,000. Mr. Leahy is one of the proprietors and the well known manager of Wisconsin's Best Laundry, and under his faithful guidance and constant watchfulness the business of the plant is constantly growing.

Local Builder of Note.
W. B. Shepard, one of our best known old settlers, has just completed a handsome violin. It is made from timber that he brought with him on his return during the past summer from his old home in New York, and has been pronounced by good violinists to be of fine tone, one that any musician could be proud of. Mr. Shepard is also an expert boat builder, having built and owned the first large pleasure boat known as the Island City, with a capacity of 48 passengers, which was run on the Wisconsin river a number of years ago. He built the steamer Wisconsin for E. W. Sellers, with a capacity of 75 passengers, a few years ago, and constructed eight boats for Henry Clinton, which were run on the waters of Lake Emily a few years ago. One of the latter boats won the cup at the Wisconsin Central Railroad Employees picnic that was held at Lake Emily at the time.

Young Women Wanted.
Young women who can operate sewing machines or sew by hand can secure pleasant and remunerative employment at the Underwear Mills, corner Park avenue and Prairie street. Competent people will be paid well at start. Call at the office for particulars.

Entertained at the Rapids.
A number of members of the local Woman's Relief Corps were royally entertained by their sister members at Grand Rapids, last Thursday afternoon and evening, the delegation going down Thursday forenoon and arriving home the following morning. Those who went from here were Mesdames Geo. W. Miller, M. C. Welty, Jessie Hamstein, Albert Engleburger, G. W. Bailey, A. A. Hinchie, W. B. Shepard, Harriett Gano, S. B. Carpenter, L. B. Harlow, John C. Young, C. H. Johnson and Florella King of Abbottsford.

The Waning Wood Supply.
Although the demand for hardwood lumber is greater than ever before, the annual cut today is a billion feet less than it was seven years ago. In this time the wholesale price of the different classes of hardwood lumber advanced from 25 to 65 per cent. The cut of oak, which in 1899 was more than half the total cut of hardwoods, has fallen off 36 per cent. Yellow poplar, which was formerly second in point of output, has fallen off 38 per cent., and elm has fallen off one-half.

The cut of softwoods is over four times that of hardwoods, yet it is doubtful if a shortage in the former would cause dismay in so many industries. The cooperage, furniture and vehicle industries depend upon hardwood timber, and the railroads, telephone and telegraph companies, agricultural implement manufacturers and builders use it extensively.

This leads to the question, where is the future supply of hardwoods to be found? The cut in Ohio and Indiana, which, seven years ago, led all other states, has fallen off one-half. Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, Tennessee, West Virginia, Texas and Wisconsin have also declined in hardwood production. The chief centers of production now lie in the lake states, the lower Mississippi valley, and the Appalachian mountains. Yet in the lake states the presence of hardwoods is an almost certain indication of rich agricultural land, and when the hardwoods are cut the land is turned permanently to agricultural use. In Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi the production of hardwoods is clearly at its extreme height, and in Missouri and Texas it has already begun to decline.

The answer to the question, therefore, would seem to lie in the Appalachian mountains. They contain the largest body of hardwood timber left in the United States. On them grow the greatest variety of tree species anywhere to be found. Protected from fire and reckless cutting, they produce the best kinds of timber, since their soil and climate combine to make heavy stands and rapid growth. Yet much of the Appalachian forest has been so damaged in the past that it will be years before it will again reach a high state of productiveness. Twenty billion feet of hardwoods would be a conservative estimate of the annual productive capacity of the 75,000,000 acres of forest lands in the Appalachians if they were rightly managed. Until they are we can expect a shortage in hardwood timber.

Circular 116, of the Forest Service, entitled "The Waning Hardwood Supply," discusses this situation. It may be had upon application to the Forester, Forest Service, Washington, D. C.

Sunday Laws of Australia.
Melbourne, Australia, has some laws which are wonders. One of them prohibits the opening of any cafe on Sunday before 11 o'clock in the morning, and the unwary American who may not know this finds himself suddenly high and dry without a thing to eat till 11. So he soon learns, if he's in lodgings, to sleep till 11 and then forage forth.

Another nice thing that contributes to the hilarity of the Sundays here and the gaiety of nations generally is that there are no street cars running till after 2 o'clock on Sundays. All the steam roads bring thousands of people into the city, but they have to walk once they are inside the city limits.

And if you buy baker's cakes and pies to be taken away from the premises you may only buy them between 1 and 3 Sunday afternoons. And you may not invite friends to dinner with you in Sydney, which is in New South Wales and under different jurisdiction. If you are living in a hotel, because in some mysterious way, which is not at all clear, you are breaking the Sunday law.—New York World.

Irish Legal Wits.
The mots of the celebrated wits—Harry Deane Grady, Lysaght and Keller—of the Irish bar early in the last century are now in large measure forgotten. Some few are, however, on record. Harry Deane Grady, a leader of the Munster bar, voted in the Irish house of commons to support the union against the wishes of his constituents, one of whom remonstrated indignantly with him on his intended course of action. "What, do you mean to sell your country?" "Yes," was the cool reply, "and very happy I am to have a country to sell."

Ned Lysaght, a celebrated wit and poetaster of the period in very embarrassing circumstances, applied to Mr. La Touche, the well known banker, for a place in his establishment. "What situation, my dear Lysaght, could possibly suit you?" said his friend, who felt himself in a difficulty. "Not only one, but two," was the reply. "Tray, what are they?" "If you will only, my dear La Touche, make me cashier for one day I'll become runner the next."—London Law Notes.

Some More Red Tape.
"Where can I register this birth, likewise this accident and also this death?" It is probable that this question will be asked many times within the next few weeks and for many weeks thereafter. The registrar of vital statistics now, literary speaking, is all over and still he is not anywhere.

Under a law adopted by the legislature the registrar of vital statistics is the health officer or clerk in any town, village or city. Heretofore the registrar of vital statistics for the entire county, but now the city health officer, the town health officers and the village clerks will all be officials of the bureau of vital statistics.

This new law will naturally cause complications, according to prominent residents of the county. Whenever it is desired to ascertain something relative to a birth, death, marriage or accident, it will be necessary to first learn in what place the birth, death, accident or marriage took place and then write or go to the place for information. The new law will also reduce the receipts of the registrar of deeds' office to a large extent.

Undertakers today receive a book for record and report purposes which doubles their cares, they say. In this book must be recorded the history of the deceased and the history of all of the deceased's relatives as far back as the mind can probe. Scores of questions are required to be answered and the report must be signed by the local registrar of vital statistics, the attending physician and the undertaker. It is claimed that the new law will be a nuisance in many ways and that there is altogether too much red tape necessary in complying with it. Whenever a body is to be shipped out of the city it is necessary to have the information from the physician and the undertaker reported and signed before the remains can be moved.

SHERWIN WILLIAMS PAINTS & VARNISHES

An appeal to the pride of the owner of a home

Everyone who owns a home is anxious that that home shall make the best appearance possible. Two things are necessary to produce satisfactory results in painting and varnishing a home:

First—A satisfactory color scheme.
Second—Paints, varnishes, stains and enamels of such good quality that they not only give the exact color effect required, but are sufficiently durable to keep up the attractive appearance of the house in spite of the wear and tear of living in it.

These are offered by the Sherwin-Williams Paints and Varnishes. The Sherwin-Williams Co. not only make every kind of paint and varnish used for a house and the best quality of that kind, but they make suggestions for the selection of colors, varnishes, stains and enamels, so that any given idea can be carried out, and carried out with the best materials.

You should see to it that when you buy paints and varnishes for your house, or any part of it, or when you give an order to your painter for any painting and varnishing you want done, that Sherwin-Williams Paints and Varnishes are purchased.

In large work it is always best to have a practical painter; but there are many little things about the house that you can readily finish yourself by using Sherwin-Williams ready-to-apply paints.

Come in and have a little paint talk with us. Now is the time to "brighten up" your home for the long winter months. We can tell you the best product to use for any purpose you may have in mind and secure complete finishing specifications for you from The Sherwin-Williams Co., if you desire them, for special work. Our line of Sherwin-Williams Products is complete and we are in a position to take the best care of your paint and varnish requirements.

DOCTORS MISTAKES

Are said often to be buried six feet under ground. But many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they present alike to themselves and their easy-going or over-busy doctor, separate diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, keeps up his treatment until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, because of the wrong treatment, but probably worse. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause, would have relieved all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nerve tonic "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous conditions commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

How to Cure a Cold.

The question of how to cure a cold without unnecessary loss of time is one in which we are all more or less interested, for the quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger of pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., has used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for years and says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For sale by H. D. McCulloch Co.

Gray Shires For America.

It is interesting to notice that gray draft horses are much more likely to attract American and Canadian buyers than those of any other color, and as the Shire breed has produced some famous animals of this color there are naturally young descendants coming on, and one wonders whether it would not be a good stroke of business for a few breeders of Shires with gray mares to mate them with stallions of like hue in order to produce the favorite color for the States and Canada. Says the London Live Stock Journal. It is certain that a smart wearing class of Shire would be a match for the Percherons on the western wheat farms, where a combination of weight and activity is needed. That there is a demand for gray stallions, upstanding, smart and with flat, dainty bone, which will stand the idleness of a Canadian winter, is certain, and unquestionably British horse breeders have the material for producing them. It is well known that Lincolnshire Lad II., 1365, was a gray, and he left quite a number of descendants of that color when he died at a good old age. Iron Chancellor's dam was by him, and this horse probably sired more grays than those of any other color.

Great Show Team of Grays.

The Armour gray team is returning to its native land after what was perhaps the most successful visit to a foreign country ever made by show horses. From the time they landed in Liverpool in May their reception in Albion has been attended by continuous enthusiasm. From king to peasant the populace has seen them and applauded.

With the horses which left Chicago are two gray Shires for which long prices were paid. Armour & Co.'s London manager advertised for the best of the color in England, and we are informed that the two geldings obtained are of the highest class, says the Breeder's Gazette, Chicago, from which the cut is also reproduced.

Iowa After Good Grays.

The Iowa State college at Ames is co-operating with the United States government in a breeding experiment to establish a breed of gray draft horses. An importation of gray Shires and Clydesdales arrived at Ames recently, and they are to be used as the foundation stock in this work. Professor W. J. Kennedy is said to have picked them from the cream of European studs.

Polo Ponies Wanted.

Consul General W. H. Michael, writing from Calcutta, says that if Oregon and Texas can supply stout limbed and well ribbed ponies in shipload lots, as those localities once were able to do, they could dispose of several shiploads at good prices in Burma, where the native pony is becoming very scarce. He particularizes: "The ponies or small horses should be sufficiently active to be trained for the polo field and suited to work in single harness to a low hung two wheeled vehicle in general use throughout India."—Breeder's Gazette, Chicago.

The Thin Hind Hog.

According to Professor Plumb in his book on farm animals, the thin hind hog finds a place among the breeds of medium size. The bear attains a weight of 500 pounds, and the sows in ordinary condition weigh about 200 pounds. The sows of this breed farrow litters varying from ten to twelve pigs, and they are reputed to be excellent mothers. The cross of a pure bred thin hind male on other breeds results in the production of a more prolific strain and in the raising of a leaner type. Thin hind boars cross excellently on sows of other breeds of the chunky type.

Prior Extraordinary.

After a test of the production of winter lambs the Wisconsin experiment station expresses the opinion that "the most disappointing feature of this trial was the failure to get more ewes to breed early enough to produce winter lambs."

"The price received for the lambs was extraordinary, but it emphasizes the fact that it pays to produce something of special value and cater to a high class trade which demands only the best."

His Dear Old Mother.

"My dear old mother, who is now eighty-three years old, thrives on Electric Bitters," writes W. B. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. "She has taken them for about two years and enjoys an excellent appetite, feels strong and sleeps well." That's the way Electric Bitters affect the aged, and the same happy results follow in all cases of female weakness and general debility. Weak, puny children too, are greatly strengthened by them. Guaranteed also for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, by H. D. McCulloch Co. 50 cents.

Rice in the Salt.

There is no denying the fact that salt will not run out of a shaker in humid weather. It is a very clever mineral; knows enough to stay in when it rains. There is no better barometer. The best thing ever known to cause the salt to run is rice. Heat a teaspoonful of rice on the stove and put it in the salt shaker with the salt. The hot rice quickly absorbs all the moisture and the salt issues forth as dry as the sands of the desert. Twenty grains of rice are sufficient for a small shaker. Although it has only pinholes in the top, the salt will not pack in the most humid weather.—New York Press.

A Peripatetic Investment.

When the scallop is full grown it is able to swim with great rapidity by opening and closing the valves of its shell. This curious fact, says What to Eat, was unknown to an unfortunate Frenchman who undertook a few years ago to establish a scallop plantation on a quiet New England beach. He deposited several thousand scallops in shallow water, expecting them to breed, but when he looked for them the next day all of them had fled.

Literary Exercises.

Wife (scornfully)—Oh, I've no doubt you were at your literary club reciting poetry till this hour of the night. And, pray, what were you reciting? Husband (reminiscently)—I think wash something 'bout "Chips That Pash In the Night."—Baltimore American.

His Cleverness.

"Don't be so lazy. There's plenty of room at the top, and you're clever enough to get there." "But," replied the lazy genius, "think how clever it is of me to find a place at the bottom, where there isn't so much room."

Her Note Was Final.

The proprietor of a large drug store recently received this curt and haughty note written in an angular feminine hand: "I do not want vasoline, but glicerine. Is that plain enough? I persoon you can spell."

An Exacting Trainer.

"Who won that long distance walking match?" "Spriggins." "He did? Who was his trainer?" "His ten-months-old baby."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Fate leads the willing, but drives the stubborn.—French Proverb.

Judicious Charity.

"I don't believe he is so miserly as they say. I hear he invites his poor relations to visit him each year." "Yes. They all live at a considerable distance and are too poor to come."

The Rise of a Painter.

Only painters looked long at the picture which Eugene Carriere exhibited at the salon of 1877, and for a dozen years afterward, while his portraits and his studies of children and women steadily gained in distinctive character, they puzzled and repelled the unwary, says Henry Copley Greene in the Century. Their merging varied colors in a single tone, their dissolving of sharp contours in smoke hued mist, suggested either insincerity or myopic vision. Yet little by little Carriere impressed first a few artists and critics, then part of the public, then even the ministry of fine arts. In 1889 he was decorated, and in the next year, when his paintings were seen at the then new Salon du Champ de Mars isolated in a single group, Carriere began to be more widely understood. His fervid sincerity reverberating, as it were, from picture to picture destroyed all suspicion of pose, and as his technic grew familiar the sculptural solidity of his heads and figures appeared through that mist in proof of his genius of eye and hand.

The Herring's Heads.

Miracles are not only of religion. Perhaps readers may have forgotten the strange adventure of the great Johann Sebastian Bach. The story was told by Bach himself and is therefore, we may be assured, substantially true. Bach was a very young man at the time. His chief object then was to hear a great organist of Hamburg named Reinken. He was very poor, and on one of these journeys, returning home, he found himself destitute and yet far from Luneburg. So he sat down on a bench outside an inn and tried to dine on the smell of the cooking. Suddenly a window was thrown open above and a couple of herring's heads fell at his feet. He picked them up and discovered in each a piece of money! He could not find out who his benefactor had been. But he made a good use of the gift, for he immediately tramped back to Luneburg to hear Reinken once more. However it happened, it was a miracle. But Bach was dwelling in the regions of the miracle.—London Academy.

What Barbers Must Know.

The barber spoke indignantly. "A doctor, a lawyer or a divine," he said, "learns his business in three or four years, and afterward he is wonderfully looked up to. It takes us barbers many, many more years to learn our business, but who is there that looks up to us? On the contrary, we are rather looked down on."

"Yet think of all a good barber must know today."

"He must not only shave and cut hair and trim beards beautifully. He must understand facial massage, singling, hairdressing, undulating, dyeing, wigmaking and switchmaking, and he must also be able to compound pleasant washes and shampoo lotions, massage creams, skin foods, eradicators and regenerators and depilatories—if you know what they are—tonics, oils, brilliantine and shaving creams."

"With all this knowledge why shouldn't the modern barber hold his head as high as any doctor or lawyer or preacher in the land?"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Sure.

Sunday School Teacher—Tommy, can you tell me what caused the flood? Small Tommy—Yes, ma'am. It rained.

WASHINGTON LETTER

[Special Correspondence.] The grounds around the capitol have been torn up for several weeks in order to construct the subways connecting the capitol with the senate and house office buildings. The contract for the work calls for its completion and the restoration of everything above ground to its original state by the time the real people begin to drift into town for the session. From the inside out the subways will be constructed of one inch facing of cement, a fifteen inch wall of concrete, four layers of waterproofing and then a four inch wall of hollow terra cotta blocks, set vertically, so as to serve as a series of drains and carry off rain seepage and such. Each subway will be absolutely dry, and the greatest sort of care is being given to this feature.

Subway Sidewalks.

The sidewalk in the subways will be seven feet wide, running the full length of the tunnel and terminating in platforms in each station. In addition each subway has sufficient room for a narrow gauge track, on which will be run ordinary trucks to transfer documents, etc., to and from the capitol. A track for passenger cars may be put in, although this particular feature is in rather a hazy state just now. Anyhow, the sidewalk will permit those members of congress who retain powers of locomotion to dash back and forth between the capitol and the office buildings without showing their noses above ground.

Furbishing the Capitol.

The work on the capitol is nearing completion. 'Twas unusually heavy this year. The outside of the big dome was gone over with a magnifying glass and painted with some sort of compound that stretches and has a contempt for weather. Inside in the senate wing the rooms of the committees on interstate commerce, privileges and election claims, conference, postoffice and post roads and the chambers of the vice president and sergeant at arms were painted and decorated, and at the house end the rooms of the committees on Indian affairs, private land claims and labor received similar treatment. The folding room, document room and other business quarters around the capitol also have been gone over.

Senate Ventilation.

In the supreme court everything paintable has been painted, and the robing room has been given special attention. The work certainly should be fine, as it is being done by the artist who restored the Vatican frescoes a couple of years ago.

One of the most important pieces of work done at the capitol during the summer was the installation of a new and big exhaust fan over the senate chamber. It is thought this will materially improve the ventilation.

Ball Bearing Chairs for Congressmen.

The annual housecleaning of the corridors and the 430 rooms for office, committee and storage purposes and the 679 windows, the 550 doorways and the 140 fireplaces has been finished. In the house chamber all of the 400 mahogany desks have been scraped and refinished and the 400 chairs furnished with new ball bearing castors.

Municipal Building Furnishings.

The special committee appointed by the commissioners several months ago to estimate the cost of furnishing and equipping the new municipal building which the District government anticipates moving into next June furnished their estimate to the commissioners as $135,826. Of this $92,190 will be used for equipments such as metal filing cases, lockers, letterpresses, counters, partitions, electrical fixtures, railings, etc. The remaining $43,627 will be devoted to furniture, screens, rugs, mirrors, etc.

Public Baths and Laundries.

Preparatory to submitting their annual reports and estimates to congress at the coming session, the commissioners are considering the advisability of providing public baths in the District. They strongly favor the establishment of public baths and last year recommended that an appropriation be made sufficient to build two, but congress turned it down. This year, it is stated, the commissioners will ask for an appropriation for the two public baths and an appropriation with which to establish public baths for the accommodation of pupils of the public schools and the establishment of public laundries in connection with the public baths.

White House Dining Table.

At the White House it is stated that the famous dinner set of the Roosevelt home is not being regilded, as reported, but that several of the ornaments to the tables of the state dining room are in process of being brightened up. The most interesting of these is what is called the plateau, a beautiful ornament for the center of the White House table on state occasions. It is about ten feet long, in five sections and twenty inches wide. Beautiful mirrors adorn the bottom of this, and the border of these mirrors is of gilt. The borders are being worked over. Several of the candleholders are also being repainted.

A Long Pastorate.

Rev. Frederick D. Fowler, pastor of the Vermont Avenue Christian church, recently preached his thirty-second anniversary sermon. The preacher has served his church in Washington through nine administrations from Grant's second term to the present, and has delivered 5,000 sermons and paid more than 50,000 pastoral calls. He has seen his congregation grow from a little group of 150 all told, housed in a dilapidated chapel, to a body containing 621 enrolled members, with a Sunday school of 470. The present church is the seventh structure used by the congregation since the beginning of the preacher's pastorate. CARL SCHOFIELD.

Why Is the Ocean Salt?

The Creator made the ocean salt to save the land from putrefaction. The winds blow everything offensive and pestilential (as far as we allow them to do the work of boards of health) out to sea, where all humors are absorbed by the hungry waters. Salt is a purifying agent. The ocean is a great manufacturer. It converts everything foul into health making ozone and hands it back to us without charge. No government label is necessary. Stand on the prow of a ship for three hours a day, deep breathing like an athlete, and your lungs will be cleaned of everything poisonous. Your blood will leap through veins and arteries. Your heart will be obliged to thump with renewed force. The tide is the ocean's tongue. It comes in twice a day to lick up the foul things of the earth and convey them to the ocean's stomach, where they are digested, salted down, cured and rendered pure again.—Marine Journal.

The Grimmiest Epitaph.

What is the most terrible epitaph in existence? One of the grimmest is surely that on a stone which was set up a few years ago in the cemetery of Debreschin, eastern Hungary.

It reads as follows: "Here rests in the Lord Joseph Moritz, Sr., who died in his sixty-second year. He was shot by his son. Frau Joseph Moritz, who died in her forty-seventh year. She was shot by her daughter. Elizabeth Moritz, who died by her own hand in her seventeenth year after shooting her mother. Joseph Moritz, who died in prison, age twenty-seven. He had shot his father. May eternal mercy have pity on their poor, sinful souls!"

This memorial was erected by a local literary association, to which, it is said, the last of the ill starred family left a sum of $7,500 for the purpose.

What a Woman Did.

There is much to be said against the New York cabby, but there are frequent occasions when one is really deserving of sympathy. The other day a cabby drove a well dressed and refined looking woman to a Broadway restaurant, where she ordered an expensive lunch and then told the waiter that she had lost her purse, but that her cab was waiting and if he would send a boy with her she would go home for the money. The boy entered the cab with her, and she directed the cabby to drive to a Sixth avenue department store. When they arrived she left the boy in the cab, entered the store to make an imaginary purchase and went out at the opposite entrance. In the hope of getting information about his departed fare, cabby drove back to the restaurant, accompanied by the lonesome looking boy, whom he blackmailed all the way for letting the woman escape. The restaurant people discharged the lad for the same reason, and the driver cried quits.—New York Times.

The Marble Bible.

In 1857 Mindon min, king of Burma, erected a monument near Mandalay called the Kuthadaw. There he built 700 temples, in each of which there is a slab of white marble. Upon these 700 slabs is engraved the whole of the Buddhist Bible, a vast literature in itself, equal to about six copies of the Holy Scriptures. This marble Bible is engraved in the Pali language, thought to be that spoken by Buddha himself 500 B. C.

Dan J. Schilling, engineer on the Great Northern R. R., running between Benson, Minn., and Watertown, S. D., is visiting a few days at his old home in the town of Almond.

Miss Gertrude Holman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Holman, commenced her first term of school last Monday in the Nugent district, town of Hull, a couple of miles northeast of the city.

Miss Julia Callows and Leo C. Worden, both of Linwood, were married at the Baptist parsonage, Monday afternoon, by Rev. James Blake. Carl Callows and Miss Effie M. Worden were the attendants. The young couple will reside in Linwood.

C. F. Luck, of Portage, a locomotive engineer on the St. Paul road, arrived in the city, the last of the week, to spend a few days visiting at the home of his brother-in-law, Wm. Sherbert, 520 Fremont street, and incidentally do a little hunting and fishing.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Featherly, Jr., 417 Michigan avenue, last Sunday night. The event is of particular interest because of the fact that a well known citizen, Theo. Myers of Amherst, is now a great-grandfather. It is said that Mr. Myers bears his new honors very gracefully.

Peter Rose, who is employed as a brakeman on the Central, has been at the home of his mother, Mrs. Anna Rose, 107 Cleveland avenue, for the past few days, having been cut by broken glass by being thrown through a casement window while switching in the yards at Fond du Lac. He will soon be on duty again.

John Corcoran, of 125 Oak street, returned to his home in this city, the last of the week, after an absence of several months at Menomonie and other points in the western part of the state. Mr. Corcoran is the patentee of a superior cross-roads sign post, and he succeeded in getting many parties interested in the same over in the territory he has just covered.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.

Articles and Items of News That Appeared in the Columns of The Gazette, Quarter of a Century Ago Today.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Curran and Miss Florence left the city this evening for Lansing, Mich., where they will be the guests of Rev. and Mrs. Eben Thompson.

Jas. Gilchrist, who for the past year has been engaged with a railroad surveying party in Pennsylvania, is at home for a month's visit. "Jim" came as a surprise, without warning.

A double wedding occurred at St. Stephen's church Thursday, Oct. 12, when Rev. N. July united in marriage Edward Stinson and Miss Mary Timlin and Wm. Loftis and Miss Catherine Timlin, all of Lanark.

Jas. Marshall, Jr., who for the past few years has been in the employ of the W. C. R. R., first as operator and later as machinist, has gone to Ft. Howard to enter the shops of the Milwaukee & Northern R. R.

Rev. Perry Millar, the reverend gentleman who accompanied J. J. Nelson to Europe, was married at Milton, Wis., a few days after returning from his trip. The newly married couple will reside at Antigo during the coming year.

Patsy Walsh and bride returned from their wedding tour the first of last week and on Wednesday morning started for Chelsea, where they will make their future home for at least some time in the future. Mr. Walsh is engaged as head sawyer in J. J. Kennedy's mill near there.

A. Eaton, Jr., who for the past couple of years has resided at Watertown, D. T., has been visiting with his parents here during the last few days. Al is engaged in the real estate business, as well as being deputy sheriff of the county in which he resides, while Parley Higgins is the sheriff.

Matthew Guilday, whose parents reside in the town of Stockton, was fatally injured one week ago last Friday. He was at work for Brown Bros., nearly 80 miles north of Rhinelander, and was helping to build a log barn when one of the timbers fell upon him. He died the following Sunday.

Miss Olive Jones and Miss Emily Gilchrist, who returned from Dakota the first of last week, are well satisfied with their trip, each having taken up 160 acres of good land near Huron. They will probably "prove up" on their claims next spring. Miss Jones also has a tree claim of 160 acres in Nebraska.

When returning from visiting with neighbors last Sunday evening, N. Berens and wife came near meeting with a serious accident. The night was very dark and some mischievous person or persons had stretched a wire across the sidewalk, fastening both ends securely. When Mr. and Mrs. Berens came along they naturally struck the same, but managed to keep from injuring themselves beyond a few slight bruises.

Dr. D. W. Ashum, one of the proprietors of the Bay City Hospital, has been in the city for the past several days, making arrangements to start a branch institution in this city. He has rented the upper story in Chafee's building. The infirmary at Bay City is presided over by Dr. Waterhouse, who visited this city a couple of weeks ago. Certificates of membership, which entitle the holders to treatment, board included, in the hospital here at any time during the year, will be sold for $3, and these also entitle holders to any medicine that they may need during the same period.

The three year old son of Louis P. Wollenschlager, who resides on Division street, was seriously injured by a horse belonging to Gus Felker, last Sunday forenoon. The horse had been taken from the stable only a few minutes before and allowed to run at large for exercise. The little fellow with a companion was playing on the street when the horse passed and kicked him on the left side of the face, cutting a deep gash commencing near the bridge of the nose and continuing down the bottom of the upper lip through the flesh, knocking out four teeth and breaking the gum and jaws. The little boy will be more or less disfigured for life.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Board of deafmutes—
Mrs. Chenevert..... 10.00
Mrs. Hair..... 20.30
Mrs. Hebard..... 15.00
Miss Seibert, teaching..... 25.00
Pearl Tompkins, expense of looking up deaf children..... 12.15

The committee recommended that the telephone bill be allowed at $9.01 and that Miss Seibert's claim for teaching drawing to the deafmute pupils during the year 1906-07 be laid over for investigation. Later in the evening the board voted to disallow this claim. All other bills were ordered paid.

A communication from the inspector representing insurance companies doing business in this city, recommended that some slight changes be made in the High school building, when the insurance rate would be lowered, was read and referred to committee on insurance. Mr. Park stated that on account of a quantity of gasoline being stored in that portion of the Leonard building occupied as an automobile repair shop by A. J. Clements, the insurance rate had been increased from $1.80 to $3.30 per $100 of risk.

The teachers' committee recommended that the petitions of several teachers asking that their salaries be increased, be denied, and the report was adopted.

It was further stated on behalf of the committee that a new schedule of salaries for grade teachers would be submitted to the board before the close of the present school year.

Pres. Collins stated that Miss Finch, teacher of the fourth and fifth grades in the Fourth ward building, now has upwards of fifty students and that this large number would be considerably increased within a couple of weeks. He considered it absolutely necessary that an assistant be engaged. The matter was referred to the superintendent with power to act, and that he be authorized to engage an assistant at a salary not to exceed $45 per month.

The committee on supplies was authorized to purchase a second hand sewing machine for use in the domestic science department at a cost of $15.

Three bids for furnishing necessary supplies for the domestic science department, as per a list submitted to the hardware dealers, were read as follows: C. Krembs & Bro., $58.56; L. A. Martin, $67.63; Gross & Jacobs, $74.83. The Krembs bid was accepted and the contract awarded to them.

Treas. Bruce reported that he had received during the past quarter the sum of $1,429.17 and that orders had been drawn for $7,533.77, leaving a balance on hand of $512.26. As the balance did not agree with the books of the clerk, no action was taken on the report at this time.

When a bill was submitted to the state treasurer a few months ago for the expense of the deaf mute school during the previous year, the sum of $25 was included for extra services performed by the teacher, Miss Carrie Archibald, and this amount was allowed. The board thereafter voted that an order be drawn in favor of Miss Archibald for this sum.

Supt. Davis reported that the Wisconsin Teachers' Association would meet in Milwaukee Nov. 7, 8 and 9, and asked what action the board wished to take towards allowing the city teachers to attend the sessions. The matter of giving the teachers leave of absence at this time was left with the committee on teachers, who will hold a meeting a few days before the above dates.

Mr. Park moved that the teachers be paid their full month's salary for October and that the motion previously made to deduct one-half of the October salary be rescinded. The question was put to a vote and resulted as follows: Ayes, Park, Bruce, Clements, Urbanowski, Redfield.

Noes, Collins, Young, Blood, Boyer. As it requires a two-thirds vote to rescind a rule of the board, the motion was declared lost, after which Mr. Park gave notice that he would again bring the matter up at the next regular meeting.

Mr. Young made a motion to hold the future meetings of the board in the High school building, but after some discussion he withdrew the motion. The board then adjourned for one week.

Made Record Run.

The Sexmith Stoddard-Dayton automobile, driven by Geo. Sexmith and having as his guests Peter Goerling, Frank Morgan and Al. Paranto, made a record run from Wausau to this city Tuesday morning. The actual time taken to cover the forty miles, not including time deducted for stops at various places enroute, was one hour and seventeen minutes. As a good part of the distance is covered with loose sand, making fast wheeling difficult, it may be imagined that George touched only the high places when he found a good piece of road. The boys returned home yesterday afternoon, well pleased with their short visit here.

Mrs. A. P. Jensen went to Mellen last Saturday afternoon to visit her husband, who has the mason contract on several big store buildings being erected there to replace the structures destroyed by fire a few months ago.

Mrs. N. Gross left for Iron River, the first of the week, for a visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. F. Morris, and was accompanied by the latter's little son, Robt., who had spent much of the summer with his grandparents.

Rev. C. I. Andrews, of Hartford, and C. A. Hall, of Oshkosh, spent a couple of days in the city this week visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Andrews, and sister, Mrs. E. A. Sherman, leaving for Oshkosh yesterday.

Mrs. W. D. Harrigan and Miss Mary Gray, who had been visiting among relatives and friends in this city and vicinity for the past few weeks, have gone to Rhinelander for a short stay before returning to their home at Fulton, Alabama.

Miss Lizzie Van Hecke returned home yesterday from a visit at Ashland and Hayward, and also spent a few days in St. Paul. At Hayward she was bridesmaid for her cousin, Miss Nellie Walsh, who was married there a couple of weeks ago.

A telephone message from LaCrosse announces the arrival of a baby boy, their first born, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Leahy. The grand parents, Chief of Police and Mrs. John Leahy, bear the new honors very modestly. Frank is editor of the LaCrosse Leader-Press.

"The Familiar Spirit of Woodcraft," is the title of a four page article, nicely illustrated, written by Dr. J. W. Bird of this city, which appears in the October number of the Field and Stream, a popular sportsman's magazine published in New York. The illustrations are of hunting scenes in the northern woods, taken by the author.

B. B. Park and son, Lyman, spent last Sunday in Chicago and in the afternoon witnessed a "fare" game of base ball between two nines representing the Cubs of the National league, who the day before had won the world's championship from Detroit. While there was much "horseplay," still the loss frequently got down to real business and a good game resulted.

Peter Eiden, Sr., has nearly completed one of the finest country homes in the county on his farm just west of Ellis, on the north side of the highway, in the town of Sharon. The dwelling is handsome in architecture, modern in all respects, and the friends of the worthy couple hope they may enjoy its comforts for many years.

Chester Gross returned the latter part of last week from Illinois, where he had been during the summer as assistant to his brother, George Gross, in the government geological survey. The latter young man has resumed his studies at Mahson university, where he is taking the engineering course, and Chester left here Sunday for Radolph to begin teaching a district school near there.

L. J. N. Murat, Lenore Eaton, Henry Curran, Chas. Clark and Harold Week were members of an automobile party who enjoyed a trip to Wausau and Marshfield, last Sunday. They reached Wausau in time for dinner at the Ellis House, and later in the afternoon rode down to Marshfield, where a 6 o'clock dinner was enjoyed at the Blodgett. The trip of over one hundred miles was covered without a mishap.

C. H. Duinell and wife, who recently moved to Amherst, passed through here yesterday afternoon while on their return from Somerset, St. Croix county, where Mrs. Duinell received the second treatment from a doctor who is said to perform wonderful cures. The lady has been in poor health for quite a long time, but she is now feeling much better and looks forward to a permanent cure. Mrs. Lott Ferdon and son, Earl, of this city, also returned yesterday from Somerset, where Mrs. Ferdon took another course of treatment with apparently beneficial results.

Mrs. W. I. Stratton and daughter, Ella, of Waupaca, were guests for several days of Mrs. G. E. Morrill and other friends in this city. They returned home yesterday morning.

The ladies of the Social Union of the Presbyterian church will serve a 10 cent coffee at the residence of Mrs. F. F. Showers on Clark street, next Tuesday, the 22nd, from 3 to 8 o'clock.

Cut down expenses by ordering Seal-shipt solid meat oysters. A pint of them will go almost as far as a quart of watery tub oysters. The McCulloch Co. has them fresh every day or so.

Miss Mary Leadbetter, a former Stevens Point young lady, will visit here the last of the week while on her way from Orange, N. J., to Canon City, Col., where her mother is at present.

As an evidence that the souvenir postal card craze is not dying out, it may be stated that of the 3,034 pieces of firstclass mail received at the local postoffice last Monday, 1,014 were postals and 2,020 letters.

Arthur Kingsbury, of Antigo, spent a part of last week in the city taking views of streets, public buildings, etc., for souvenir postal cards that will soon be on sale. Arthur is a native Stevens Point, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Kingsbury.

They taste like the "real thing"—Sealshipt oysters—because they are fresh, clean and free from dope. The McCulloch Co. has fresh Sealshipt oysters every day or so, direct from the beds where they are grown on Long Island. Try a few.

Mrs. Ellen Hungerford was removed from her home on Strong's avenue to the residence of her brother, Robt. Maine, corner North Division street and Normal avenue, the locality being quieter and where she will have an opportunity to improve more rapidly.

An exhibition of tubercular diseased lungs and other parts taken from cattle thus affected, has been on exhibition at the city offices during the past few days. It belongs to Geo. W. Van Buskirk, of Buena Vista, who has long made a study of that disease in the dumb animal.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Carroll Hamilton, who have been visiting at their old homes in this city during the past couple of weeks, will leave for Chicago, tomorrow night, enroute to their present home at Houghton, Mich., where Mr. Hamilton is a dispatcher for the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic R. R.

M. Nigbor, the well known furrier, has rented Neuwald's building at 119 S. Third street and opened with a complete stock of coats, gloves and mittens. He will also handle ladies' jackets and neckwear and trimmings for ladies' furs. Mr. Nigbor is thoroughly up in his calling and his goods will be found just as represented.

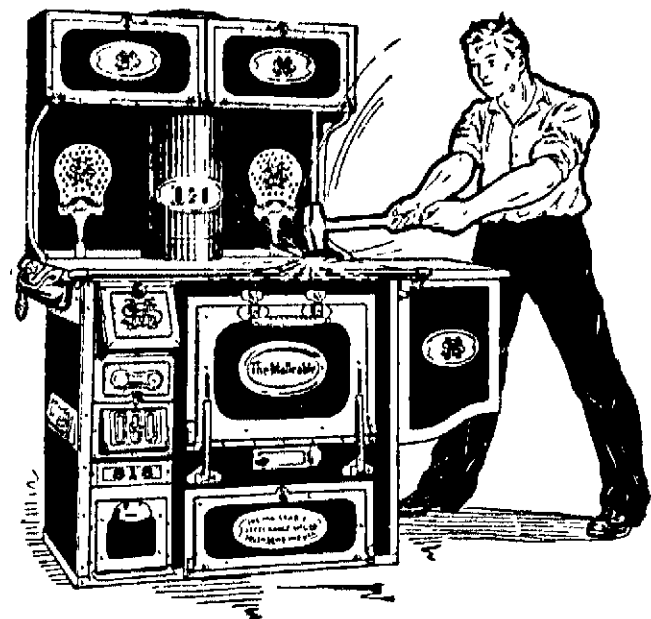

Every piece of mailable matter coming in and passing out of the local postoffice, is being counted this week by the clerks, and to lessen their labors otherwise, letters received from midnight last Saturday until midnight next Saturday will not be backstamped, or in other words, will not contain the name of the local postoffice and the hour the letter was received.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Anders, John McHugh and Jos. Ingle left here last Saturday via automobile for a trip through Wood and Clark counties, visiting Marshfield, Granton, Neillsville and Lindsey. Incidentally Mr. Anders took orders for several sets of tire protectors to be made at the local factory. The party was accompanied home yesterday by Miss Stella Clark, a niece of Mrs. Anders.

The Young Ladies' Whist Club was entertained by Misses Mollie Catlin and Anne Dunegan at the J. W. Dunegan residence on Main street, last Thursday evening. This was the first of the regular meetings for the coming season, but the occasion was made especially important by the miscellaneous shower which was given for Miss Georgia Olin, one of the members and who will still be numbered among the members of the club. Miss Olin was made the recipient of many pretty and useful remembrances.

Damon H. Campbell, who now makes his headquarters at Ashawa, in the northern part of Minnesota, near the Canadian line, spent the first three days of the week with his family in this city. Ashawa is in the midst of immense tracts of heavily timbered lands, which can be bought from the government at $2.50 per acre, and Mr. Campbell is going into the business of locating desirable claims for intended purchasers. He has met with very gratifying success during the past three months and on his short visit here, interested a dozen or more Stevens Pointers in this very promising investment.

Miss Edna Greco, a composer at the Journal office for three years, left for her home at Omro last Sunday afternoon. As a "shower" was given in the young lady's honor one evening last week, at G. S. Gunderson's home on Clark street, one might easily imagine that Miss Greco contemplates changing her vocation. The happy event will take place within a few weeks. During her short residence here Miss Greco has made many good friends, a lot of whom will wish her the choicest blessings in her new relations. Saturday evening she was given a farewell party at the residence of S. Iverson, on Normal avenue, where she had long made her home.

Quinney, Sprains and Swellings Cured.
"In November, 1901, I caught cold and had the quinney. My throat was swollen so I could hardly breathe. I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it gave me relief in a short time. In two days I was all right," says Mrs. L. Cousins, Otterburn, Mich. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is a liniment and is especially valuable for sprains and swellings. For sale by H. D. McCulloch Co.

An exchange says: A lawyer charges a man ten dollars for ten minutes' conversation the man insists on paying it. A doctor charges one dollar for a prescription and the patient says: "Oh, psaw is that enuf?" An undertaker charges a hundred dollars for conducting a funeral and he is just perfectly lovely with everybody inside and outside the family. A man buys a gold brick and apologizes for not having bitten before. An editor walks a mile in the hot sun to get the facts of a death or wedding or social function and spends three hours writing it up and tells lies and praises people until he hates himself. Then if he makes an insignificant omission or error or charges five cents straight for three extra copies he is a stingy, careless, good for nothing old cuss, who never gives anything right and charges four times the price of city papers twice as large. In short, he is a confounded most any old thing and ought to be run out of town. Talk about the ice man. How would you like to run a newspaper?

Trial catarrh treatments are being mailed out free, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. These tests are proving to the people without a penny's cost—the great value of this scientific prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by all dealers.

Woman's World

MISS CAROLYN WELLS.

The Famous Woman Humorist and Author of Fluffy Ruffles.

Seriousness has ever been man's chief accusation against woman. It is in his estimation the gravest charge he can make against her. Inanity, stillness, he may love to distraction, but temper he can forgive, lapse of virtue condone, but from the seriousness of woman good Lord deliver him. Her characteristic lack of humor, her unwillingness to view life and love in their funny aspects, her obstinate refusal to see that love has a funny aspect, her constitutional inability to let things slide—these, he argues, are the fundamental weaknesses of her sex.

MISS CAROLYN WELLS.

and are responsible not only for most of her own unhappiness, but unfortunately they make him decidedly miserable into the bargain.

Except at one psychological moment of his courtship of her a woman's seriousness in her relations with man is practically held at a discount. Hail, then, to the rare female creature in whom the sex blemish is conspicuously absent! Hail to the precursor of beyond-woman whom the generation of George Bernard Shaw are privileged to witness in the person of one Miss Carolyn Wells. This writer of light verse, novels and plays is young, attractive and vivacious, interested in a great many things besides authorship and wholesomely fond of society. She lives with her people in Rahway, N. J., which is near enough to New York to enable her to keep in touch with her editors and her personal friends there. She works easily, and she gathers ideas for her jingles and her stories from the most unexpected quarters; consequently she is extremely prolific. The latest creature of her imagination is the famous Miss Fluffy Ruffles, who has become a type along with the Gibson and Christie girls.

Gifts For a Boy's Room.
Every girl who has brothers, cousins or friends in college or school is anxious to know what would be useful and proper for the furnishing of the schoolroom. Girls are becoming somewhat diffident about offering gifts of this nature to their masculine relatives, because so many times the most carefully planned and executed piece of needlework has proved useless and out of place in the boy's room. Fragile and very dainty things, fussy things, objects for the toilet table which are not really necessary, trifles for the desk that are more ornamental than useful, are all apt to be out of place in the boy's room. The most acceptable things are the really useful things, which are solid and substantial as well as attractive in appearance. As regards aesthetics merely, most boys like pictures of certain sorts, but rather dread ornaments, which are sure to be broken in some of the scrambles.

Among sofa pillows the linen ones in the college or school colors, with big monograms in leather stitched on one side, are very popular with boys. Pillows made of soft leather are also very good, and those made of small Navajo blankets are received with the greatest joy. Of course it isn't easy making a Navajo blanket pillow or one of leather either, but for a beloved brother or cousin one will do much. It is a good plan not to attempt to stitch the two sides of the cushion in either case, but to lace them together with leather thong.

A set of laundry bags may also be made for a boy relative. There should be a large bag for general use and a small one for collars and cuffs, as these frequently go to different hands. These bags are made of linen, with monograms in white braid or embroidery. Blue linen or brown bags are the best, as they wash very well.

A housewife or comfort bag, such as soldiers carry, is always liked by the college boy. This may be in several shapes, but the best is a long strip of cloth or leather fitted with pockets and with cords at one end, so that it may be rolled up and tied. The pockets contain barbers, scissors, tape and other useful things for bachelor traveling.

As for pictures, of course there is a matter of individual taste and most boys. There are a few pictures, however, which almost all boys like, among which Remington's Indian and cowboy pictures probably take first rank.

So Nervous He Could Not Work

Loss of time means loss of money. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills save you both.

To the wage earner who needs steady hands to do his work and to whom the loss of a day or a week means financial hardship and possibly the lack of ability to purchase the necessities of life for his wife and little ones. The statement of results obtained in just such a case by Mr. Fred Hoyt of 724 6th Ave., New Brighton, Pa., is of the greatest interest and value. Mr. Hoyt says in a way that shows positive results:

"I used to have a hand so steady, I could write the Lord's prayer in a twenty-five cent piece—then as a result of overwork and overstrain my eyes gave out and my hands and nerves generally became trembly. I was restless and could not sleep. I certainly was in bad shape and lost my ability to write—could just scrawl. I heard of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and got some and they took hold immediately. I began to sleep and gain strength, my nerves grew steady and my eyesight improved greatly. Today I feel fine and can write as well again as ever, and that means a very steady nerve. A Certain Cure for Croup—Used for Ten Years Without a Failure.
Mr. W. C. Bolt, a Star City, Ind., hardware merchant, is enthusiastic in his praise for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. His children have all been subject to croup and he has used this remedy for the past ten years, and though they much feared the croup, his wife and he always felt safe upon retiring when a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was in the house. His oldest child was subject to severe attacks of croup, but this remedy never failed to effect a speedy cure. He has recommended it to friends and neighbors and all who have used it say that it is unequalled for croup and whooping cough. For sale by H. D. McCulloch Co.

Pain anywhere, pain in the head, painful periods, neuralgia, toothache, all pains can be promptly stopped by a thoroughly safe little pink candy tablet, known by druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets. Pain simply means congestion—undue blood pressure at the point where the pain exists. Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets quickly equalizes this unnatural blood pressure, and pain immediately departs. Write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis., and get a free trial package. Large box 25 cents.—All druggists.

Weak Kidneys
Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide their strength. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month. Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell.

Lamp Suggestions.
Many clever women find most beautiful lamps for their drawing room or dining room by buying a vase of quaint design with a suitable receptacle for oil and having a burner fitted to the top at some lamp establishment.

In this way one can easily find pottery to harmonize with the furnishings of the room and have a wider range of choice than by making a selection at the lamp shop.

Graham Bread.
Set a sponge overnight as for white bread and in the morning work into it three scant tablespoonfuls of molasses and enough Graham flour to make a soft dough. Knead thoroughly and after forming into loaves knead each loaf for five minutes. Put into well greased tins, set to rise until very light and bake in a moderate oven.

Save candle ends, for, melted and with an equal quantity of turpentine, they make an excellent polish for floors, cloths, etc. This polish costs almost nothing and is often considered superior to beeswax and turpentine.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide their strength. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month. Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.
There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because it is so common. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidneys will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address: Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Secretary Straus of the department of commerce and labor, has come out strongly for tariff revision. This is something from an administration that has been noted chiefly for its stand-pat-ism. But Secretary Straus is in a department where he sees the practical side of the question and the fact that he has been converted to revision ought to go a good way in satisfying other members of the same party that if we are to continue our commercial expansion, we must have something in the way of reciprocity and reduction to offer other countries in exchange for their good will.

Stevens Point People Give Credit Where Credit is Due.
People of Stevens Point who suffer with sick kidneys and bad backs want a kidney remedy that can be depended upon. The best is Doan's Kidney Pills, a medicine for the kidneys only, made from pure roots and herbs, and the only one that is backed by cures in Stevens Point. Here's Stevens Point testimony:
Enril G. Neclach, who works in his father's meat market, at 329 Main St., Stevens Point, Wis., and who lives at 412 Elk St., says: "My kidneys and back were very lame and I suffered from an aching and dull, heavy pains in my back that are hardly describable. These pains were present continuously, making me restless and sleepless at night and tired and weak during the day. I could not bend forward and straighten again without suffering and starting twinges of pain, and I was obliged to press my hands against the back for the slight relief this gave me." Doan's Kidney Pills were so highly recommended that I got a box at Taylor Bros. drug store, and in a few days the trouble left me and has never returned. My back today is as strong as it ever was, and I greatly appreciate this result. I advise sufferers from kidney troubles to use Doan's Kidney Pills.

The SPORTING WORLD
Advice to Shot Putters by an Expert.
The veteran weight throwing champion, Jim S. Mitchell of New York, gives the following hints in regard to putting the shot. He says:
Don't stoop too low when starting to put.
Don't delay in the hop to the center of the circle.
Always remember to bring the body well around before the arm starts to shoot out.
Always use an iron shot in preference to a lead one.
To a right handed putter the main strain falls on the right ankle, and in order to prevent accidents it is best to use an elastic stocking or rubber bandage while practicing.
The amount of work each day may be explained in a paragraph. An athlete cannot put often enough until he has learned the knack, but as he grows proficient the number of puts should be curtailed by degrees. After he has mastered the rudiments of the game an average of about six or eight puts per day, with a little dumbbell exercise in the morning or evening, will be sufficient.
The athlete should at all times put in his best style, standing well up on his toes and with all the dash and fire he is capable of throwing into his movements.

Poisoned Water For Trotters.
The poisoning of the water in the fine lake of L. V. Harkness' Walnut Hall farm at Lexington, Ky., has given rise to fears that some of the fine trotters may die, as have all the fish that were in the lake.
The water from the spring which supplies the pond is pumped into every paddock of the farm, and it is believed that had enough of the poison been placed in the spring every horse in the great breeding establishment, including Moko, Walnut Hall, Ferenzo and Ozanam, might have been killed.
A quality of the water and some of the fish were sent to the State college experiment station for analysis.

Jones Talks on Ball Players.
Whenever a baseball manager has a few moments to spare nowadays he usually uses them in telling how much better or worse the ball players of today are than those of a decade or more ago.
Fielder Jones, captain of the Chicago Americans, recently announced his ideas on the subject. He said: "It is ridiculous to say that the players of today are not far in advance of those of twenty-five years ago."
"The game has improved in every department. The trouble with any man who contends that the players of old

THE SHEPHERD.
For the man who has no sheep an economical and profitable method of starting the flock would be to purchase the so called old ewes which have been discarded from the flocks of sheep men. Many people consider an ewe old and undesirable when she attains the age of five years. Such an ewe if a good breeder will not appear so nice to the eye of the visitor as the two or three year old ewe. Still, if her udder is good there is no reason why she would not be profitable from a breeding standpoint until she is eight or ten years old. She is just the kind of an animal for the beginner in the sheep business to handle. During the month of September and the early part of October of each year there are thousands of just such ewes sent to our markets, where they are a drug.—W. J. Kennedy.
A Very Little Corn, Please.
Concentrated and stimulating foods are unsuited to sheep. A very little corn will do with other grains, says a sheep feeder. Corn makes the sheep feverish, inflames the udders of the ewes and makes a big show of milk, which is actually inflammation and swelling. It also makes the lambs weak. The feverish condition dries the wool, makes it brittle and checks its growth.

No Need For Tears.
There will be a death loss among feeding lambs no matter how carefully they are fed. Care will greatly reduce this loss, however. The writer has had as low as 2 per cent and as high as 8 per cent. If no more than 4 per cent loss is sustained, no one need shed tears.—F. E. Wing.
Mutton Chops.
Do not shut the sheep up too closely on cool nights, as they may suffer from want of air if at all crowded, advises Farm Journal.
Sheep need to be kept dry. They need very little protection from cold, but damp fleeces are to be guarded against.
Count the sheep every day. You may save a sheep by it. Go among them every day with some salt or dainty.
When the wool on the sheep's back is not soft and oily, something is wrong with that sheep. Better look into the matter and do what you can to make her wool again.

More Hothouse Lambs Needed.
The conditions afforded by New Hampshire offer an excellent opportunity for the production of early lambs for the Boston market. The demand for early or "hothouse" lambs is increasing every year, and the prices paid for them should encourage our sheep raisers in this phase of the industry, says L. W. Taylor of the state experiment station in American Cultivator.

How About This, Critic?
Frank Chance says that if Cincinnati had the players they let go in the two past seasons they would now have a first division team. "The team has too many pitchers. They play well enough in spurts, but when it comes to critical points they go up in the air."

Stevens Point People Give Credit Where Credit is Due.
People of Stevens Point who suffer with sick kidneys and bad backs want a kidney remedy that can be depended upon. The best is Doan's Kidney Pills, a medicine for the kidneys only, made from pure roots and herbs, and the only one that is backed by cures in Stevens Point. Here's Stevens Point testimony:
Enril G. Neclach, who works in his father's meat market, at 329 Main St., Stevens Point, Wis., and who lives at 412 Elk St., says: "My kidneys and back were very lame and I suffered from an aching and dull, heavy pains in my back that are hardly describable. These pains were present continuously, making me restless and sleepless at night and tired and weak during the day. I could not bend forward and straighten again without suffering and starting twinges of pain, and I was obliged to press my hands against the back for the slight relief this gave me." Doan's Kidney Pills were so highly recommended that I got a box at Taylor Bros. drug store, and in a few days the trouble left me and has never returned. My back today is as strong as it ever was, and I greatly appreciate this result. I advise sufferers from kidney troubles to use Doan's Kidney Pills.

COMPACTNESS.
The Incompact Horse Goes Down Easily and Tires Early.
In all horses of general utility the quality known as compactness is the primary requisite. No hunter can possibly be good without it, no hack rider well without it, no harness horse can be properly balanced without compactness, and no Shire horse is worthy of its stable room and bulky forage without full development of this important symmetrical characteristic. In horses it is of overwhelming importance. The word compact means closely and firmly united, firm, solid, dense, structure well connected. Its effect on the work may be illustrated by a hypothetical horse whose chief fault is his incompactness.
Imagine two men carrying a long ladder. The stumbling and falling of the front man cannot be prevented or influenced by the hinder man. So with the incompact horse whose long, weak back severs rather than unites the connection between the two ends. And with either fore leg in trouble down he goes with such violence as ruins him for life. Supposing the long backed, weak horse escapes actual fall or serious damage, he is still highly incompetent, because he always goes like falling, especially when tired, and a very little work will induce this early weariness. I suggest that owners and breeders should avoid this most miserable type of animal. His hind legs are ever behind him in company with his tail, and his head becomes the fifth limb, which too often props him up. This explains the effects of incompactness.

How a Horse Proves His Quality.
A short, strong back, with long quarters and shoulders, will in a well bred animal produce action in principle not unlike the kangaroo. Notice the horse in harness. Driving last week my good harness horse pulled hard, his hind legs seeming to be ever forward, and with a wheeled dogcart he cheerfully did each measured mile in less than five minutes. He carried himself on his hind legs and had a fore foot tripped the weight of the frontage of the horse temporarily or momentarily would have been borne by the hind leg. The hind leg measures one inch more than the fore, and it is much more powerful. The muscles which drive it are the most powerful in the entire body, and the motor nerves which convey their energies to these muscles are the most important forces in the entire animal. Compactness would therefore save a horse from falling, the hind leg alone coming to the rescue.

This applies to all types of light horses, and a cart horse is a bad walker unless the swing of the hind leg be long and good. In this respect every horse proves his quality when walking by planting his hind foot far in front of the fore foot print.—W. R. Gilbert, Canada, in National Stockman.

THE SHEPHERD.
For the man who has no sheep an economical and profitable method of starting the flock would be to purchase the so called old ewes which have been discarded from the flocks of sheep men. Many people consider an ewe old and undesirable when she attains the age of five years. Such an ewe if a good breeder will not appear so nice to the eye of the visitor as the two or three year old ewe. Still, if her udder is good there is no reason why she would not be profitable from a breeding standpoint until she is eight or ten years old. She is just the kind of an animal for the beginner in the sheep business to handle. During the month of September and the early part of October of each year there are thousands of just such ewes sent to our markets, where they are a drug.—W. J. Kennedy.
A Very Little Corn, Please.
Concentrated and stimulating foods are unsuited to sheep. A very little corn will do with other grains, says a sheep feeder. Corn makes the sheep feverish, inflames the udders of the ewes and makes a big show of milk, which is actually inflammation and swelling. It also makes the lambs weak. The feverish condition dries the wool, makes it brittle and checks its growth.

No Need For Tears.
There will be a death loss among feeding lambs no matter how carefully they are fed. Care will greatly reduce this loss, however. The writer has had as low as 2 per cent and as high as 8 per cent. If no more than 4 per cent loss is sustained, no one need shed tears.—F. E. Wing.
Mutton Chops.
Do not shut the sheep up too closely on cool nights, as they may suffer from want of air if at all crowded, advises Farm Journal.
Sheep need to be kept dry. They need very little protection from cold, but damp fleeces are to be guarded against.
Count the sheep every day. You may save a sheep by it. Go among them every day with some salt or dainty.
When the wool on the sheep's back is not soft and oily, something is wrong with that sheep. Better look into the matter and do what you can to make her wool again.

More Hothouse Lambs Needed.
The conditions afforded by New Hampshire offer an excellent opportunity for the production of early lambs for the Boston market. The demand for early or "hothouse" lambs is increasing every year, and the prices paid for them should encourage our sheep raisers in this phase of the industry, says L. W. Taylor of the state experiment station in American Cultivator.

How About This, Critic?
Frank Chance says that if Cincinnati had the players they let go in the two past seasons they would now have a first division team. "The team has too many pitchers. They play well enough in spurts, but when it comes to critical points they go up in the air."

LANARK.

The young ladies of St. Patrick's congregation, of Lanark, are considering the presentation of a play for the benefit of the church.

John Loftis marketed a load of potatoes every day the past week. He did extraordinary work, making a trip each day to Amherst and back home again in six hours' time.

Duck hunting around Lanark is all the rage. All the hunters need do is to avoid the "enclosed territory" around the minor lakes. Our esteemed creamery man, Frank Dorske, says that the ducks look fine from a distance, especially when you can only reach them from one side of the lake.

Situated in the town of Lanark, seven miles from Amherst, is the flourishing rural parish of St. Patrick's. It is known both far and wide to the tillers of the town of Lanark, under whose roof many of the most faithful farmers of the town attend. During the past year the parish of St. Patrick's has made extensive improvements. The parsonage was thoroughly renovated on the interior, making it a pleasant home. The recent installation of an up-to-date furnace in the little church was another feature to add to the progress of St. Patrick's congregation. The erection of a new tower to the church, which the congregation intends doing this fall, will add greatly to the church. With this addition finished and its lofty spire heavenward, St. Patrick's church of Lanark will be foremost among the rural country parishes of Portage county.

DANCY.

Miss St. Mary, our village school ma'am, Sundayed at her home at Wausau.

W. J. Farrell of Wausau, county superintendent of schools, visited our school a day the past week.

Eugene Hein, principal of the Junction City schools, spent Sunday in this village with George J. Knoller.

John Wayer, who is very ill at his home near this village with heart trouble, is somewhat improved at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Teeting mourn the loss of their 15 year old son, whose death occurred the past week from rheumatic fever.

A. W. Warner, our depot agent, is taking a much needed vacation, which he will spend mostly in Chicago and with his aunt in Toledo, Ohio.

W. H. Dickey and Hugo Olsson left here the past week for Coos Bay, Oregon, with the intention of looking the country over, and if they like it will locate there.

The past week Mrs. Sol. Hibbard and children left for Sand Point, Idaho, where they expect to make their future home. Before going Mrs. Hibbard disposed of her property near this village to Gustave Dobrath.

Mrs. G. G. Knoller and daughter Lola were in Wausau last Saturday and attended a house party given by Miss Margaret Hurley and the Misses Kavanagh to a large number of lady friends, compose mainly of city teachers.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Altenburg tendered them a very pleasant surprise at their home in Eau Claire, last Saturday evening. Dancing and games were enjoyed until well into the night, when all departed for their homes pronouncing it one of the pleasantest social events of the season.

Bankers and brokers representing different firms throughout the country have been looking over the Dancy drainage project and conferring with the commissioners within the past couple of weeks regarding the sale of the bonds. In every instance they expressed themselves as favorably impressed with the project and layout in general.

ARNOTT.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lawler and family, of Fond du Lac, were guests at the home of M. O'Keefe, Sunday.

A baby boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McCormick, last Monday. This makes two boys in the family.

Don't forget the grand ball Friday evening, Oct. 25th, at M. W. A. hall, given by Messrs. Steinke, Doane, Leary and Dineen.

Mrs. M. W. Ward left for LaCrosse, Monday, where she will visit her sister for a few days and also with her parents at Cassville, Wis.

The Crescent orchestra was highly entertained at Amherst Junction last Friday. A special spread was prepared for the boys at midnight.

Casper Duladey, who resides south of here, has been confined to the house several weeks with an obstruction of the bowels. Dr. Ward reports the patient on the gain.

The Royal Neighbors are going to give a grand entertainment in M. W. A. hall, Friday evening, Nov. 1st. The ladies are making special preparations and the evening will be an enjoyable one.

Our school closed for the fall term last week, with Miss Maye O'Keefe

Colds on the Chest

Ask your doctor the medical name for a cold on the chest. He will say, "Bronchitis." Ask him if it is ever serious. Lastly, ask him if he prescribes Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for this disease. Keep in close touch with your family physician.

Ayer's

When you tell your doctor about the bad taste in your mouth, loss of appetite for breakfast, and frequent headaches, and when he sees your coated tongue, he will say, "You are bilious." Ayer's Pills work well in such cases.

Made by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

at Amherst, was a guest of her daughter, Mrs. Ernest Kussman, a few days last week.

There was a very excitable time at J. P. O'Keefe's place last Sunday evening. While John was going after his cows his attention was attracted to a large bear in his corn field and with the assistance of his wife and farm dog he kept the monster surrounded until he telephoned to the Doane family. The great hunters and marksmen turned out four strong and killed the bear, which weighed between 350 and 400 pounds. A number of bears have been seen in this locality during the past few days and they appear to be very plentiful.

Miss Mary Kluck is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Kluck, of Sharon.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Leary visited at Rosholt, Sunday, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Tovitrisker.

Jos. M. Kluck is having a galvanized iron roof put on his store and saloon by Barney Baranowski, which will be completed in a few days.

The young men of Custer will give a dance at Foresters hall, October 18th. Secosh's band will furnish music for the dance. All are cordially invited to attend.

The local A. S. of E. Union held its regular meeting here Saturday evening and elected the following officers: President, Alex Kluck; vice president, M. Bannach; treasurer, T. H. Leary.

JUNCTION CITY.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rux attended to business in Wausau, Tuesday.

C. J. Heun is enjoying a visit from his father, who lives at Dodgeville.

Mrs. Taylor arrived Tuesday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. Voyer.

Joseph Zivney is about to open a meat market in the Clement building.

The brick work on Jacob Skibba's addition to his store is fast nearing completion.

Joseph Zivney has purchased of C. J. Heun the house formerly occupied by his father, and has moved into it.

Fire started around the chimney in the roof of Buza's saloon, shortly after noon Tuesday. By the prompt aid of a volunteer bucket brigade the blaze was quickly extinguished without much damage being done.

PLOVER.

Miss Alta Ferdon is visiting her sister, Mrs. E. Rogers.

James Wilson visited over Sunday with Frank Herman.

Frank Rattelle and four children are guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. Sharkey.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Akey, of Biron, visited among friends in this burg Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Mathews and son Harold, of Junction city, spent Sunday at the Slattery home.

Miss Alice Redmond, who spent the summer with relatives at Omro, returned home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Daly, of Grand Rapids, spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Chas Pasneau.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pasneau are rejoicing over the arrival of a young son, born to them recently.

Emmet Slattery pressed sixty tons of hay for George Piltz and is now pressing hay for John Omholt.

Chester Gross, of Stevens Point, returned Sunday to resume his duties as teacher in Dist. No. 5, town of Carson, where he taught last year.

T. Akey, who spent the past summer at Heinemann, returned home last week, and expects to start for Chicago in the near future to visit his daughters who reside there.

Another Office Created.

The attention of members of county boards is called to the following, another of the innumerable laws passed by the late lamented legislature: "The county board shall at its next annual session, and every three years thereafter, elect a competent person to be known as County Highway Commissioner, who shall hold his office for a term of three years. . . . Compensation shall not be less than $2.50 per day nor more than $4.00 per day for actual time consumed in official duties."

If there is anyone who can get up and conscientiously say that the creation of this office was a good or wise move on the part of the legislature, The Gazette shall be pleased to hear from him. True, it creates another position for public pay, at from $2.50 to $4.00 per day, and the taxpayer must pay the bill. It has heretofore been generally supposed that the town officers were capable of attending to their own highways, but it seems not. There is to be a higher authority, a highway commissioner, and what will he do, except draw his salary "for actual time consumed in official duties."

The program for next quarter has been adjusted.

Prof. Hyer is absent from his classes on account of illness.

Mrs. Taylor, of Viroqua, visited her daughter, Miss Irma, who is attending the Normal.

Equipment for the manual training room is here and will be in readiness for next quarter's work.

The foot ball squad played Wausau last Saturday and defeated them 14 to 0. This Saturday Oshkosh will play here.

Miss Gilfillan, Pres. Sims, Prof. Lusk and Prof. Sechrist will attend the Northwestern Teachers' Association at Eau Claire this week.

Pres. Sims spoke at the dedication of the Owen High school, a new $20,000 building. Leslie Bennett, a former student, is principal of this school.

Prof. Spindler, as a representative of the school, attended the Western Wisconsin Teachers' Association held at LaCrosse Tuesday at morning exercises he gave a brief account of the meeting.

Miss Jessie Wood, who received a Normal elementary certificate in 1901 and for the next six years was employed as teacher at DePere and in Los Angeles, Cal., but who returned here in September expecting to complete the full course, has been prevailed upon to again accept a school. Last Monday she took charge of second grade work in the Second ward school building at Merrill.

Miss Madge S. Jackman, physical instructor at the Normal last year, has been engaged as director of the gymnasium recently opened in the Y. W. C. A. building at St. Paul, beginning her new duties the first of last week. In addition to the regular class work Miss Jackman will also give instructions in fencing, basketball and corrective work. The young lady made numerous friends during her short residence in Stevens Point and all will be pleased to learn that she has secured this desirable position in the saintly city.

The following people have contributed to the museum: C. E. Hill, a piece of money from the republic of Columbia, South America; Ignatius Osterbrink, present student, two letters written during Napoleonic wars; W. F. Collins, a copy of the Wisconsin Pinery of 1870 and ballots of 1864, '66 and '68. Several bonds of the Milwaukee & Horicon Railroad Co. of 1857 were donated by Mrs. Hudson. The bonds were for a road which was to run between Berlin and Stevens Point. Silliman's chemistry, published in 1831, was donated by Mrs. M. C. Sherwood, and stone arrow heads from Mr. Phillips of Plover. These gifts are much appreciated and through the kindly help of citizens and students our museum is growing from year to year.

Now a Reporter at Antigo.

Bernard Hoffman left for Antigo, Monday morning, to accept the position of reporter on the Daily Journal at that place. The young man intended to enter the Madison University, and take up special studies, but last Thursday the offer came to him from the proprietors of the Antigo paper and he concluded to accept. "Ben" is a ready writer, an enterprising reporter of local events, and he will no doubt give satisfaction in his new position. He was connected with The Gazette in this position much of the time for the past year or more, but for the last three months had been engaged in compiling the information for a city directory, which is now being printed at this office.

Old Settler Dies in Eau Claire.

Martin Schuelke, Sr., a veteran resident of Eau Claire, and one of the first settlers in that town, died at the home of his son, Martin, last Monday noon. He was born in Germany 87 years ago the 13th of last September. Death was caused by general debility due to old age. Mr. Schuelke had been in failing health for a year or more and was confined to his bed during the past five weeks. His wife died about a year ago.

Funeral services will be held at St. Joseph's Catholic church in this city at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, Rev. H. J. Ehr officiating, with interment in the parish cemetery.

An Optical Illusion.

A valuable black calf owned by John O'Keefe, who resides near Arnott, was shot and killed last Sunday afternoon, and while the killing was not accidental, but rather premeditated, the facts connected therewith were interesting. The calf was coal-black, about the size of a large bear, and some one saw it about the shocks of corn, its body being half way buried therein. Not doubting for a moment that it was a bear that had come from the neighboring woods, a consultation was held and it was decided to send for Jasper Doane, who owns a never-failing rifle and is known as a dead-shot. When Mr. Doane arrived on the scene but a small portion of the animal's body was to be seen protruding from the shocks of corn, and he took aim and fired, bringing the monster down at the first shot. In due time it was discovered that instead of a bear, that one of Mr. O'Keefe's thoroughbred calves had become the victim of the marksman, but one story is to the effect that so closely did the calf resemble a bear in color and form that its true species was not definitely decided until the hide had been taken off nearly to the head. This latter report, however, seems to have been exaggerated.

JOHN BARNES RETAINED.

He Will Represent the Creamery and Dairy-men of the State in the Matter of Securing Better Rates.

The dairy and cheese men of the state are determined to guard their own interests as to equitable railway rates, which seems to be a great bone of contention in many quarters, and they have retained John Barnes, former chairman of the railroad commission, to represent them before the present railroad commission and the interstate commerce commission against the big cream centralizers of Chicago and other large cities, who, it is claimed, are gradually driving the local creameries and factories out of business.

The complaint of the dairymen is that the big dealers get such favorable rates from the railroads that they are able to concentrate cream in large cities and make it into butter, cheese and other products cheaper than local factories can place their products on the same markets. The matter will come up before the Wisconsin railroad commission next Friday, but it is not known when it will be heard by the interstate commerce commission.

That the dairymen of Wisconsin consider the outcome of the contest of vital importance to them is manifest by a circular sent out by J. G. Moore of Madison, secretary of the organization of dairy and cheese industries which has retained Attorney Barnes. The circular says in part:

"The method adopted by the concentrators is to pay high prices for cream in new territory where they come in contact and in competition with the local creamery until the latter is forced to suspend operation, whereupon the prices are dropped to a lower level than that paid by the local creamery.

"The process of gradual elimination is carried on in much the same way that the Standard Oil trust froze out the local refineries one by one until it was left undisputed master of the field and at liberty to dominate the market price.

"It is neither good for the farmer nor the butter or cheese manufacturer that competition in the business of buying milk and cream be driven from the field. If a temporary raise in prices results from the operation of the trust it will continue, but a short time, while the low prices that will ensue as a result of the elimination of competition will continue indefinitely.

"The danger spoken of is not fanciful but is real, and immediate. It is absolutely essential to the preservation of the dairy and cheese industries of Wisconsin as they are now carried on that they organize and present an united front against a common enemy that will wipe out both under the existing order of things in a short time.

Quincy, Sprains and Swellings Cured.

"In November, 1901, I caught cold and had the quinsy. My throat was swollen so I could hardly breathe. I applied Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it gave me relief in a short time. In two days I was all right," says Mrs. L. Cousins, Otterburn, Mich. Chamberlain's Pain Balm is a liniment and is especially valuable for sprains and swellings. For sale by H. D. McCulloch Co.

LORD LOREBURN HERE

KEEPER OF ENGLAND'S GREAT
SEAL IN AMERICA.

First Time Lord High Chancellor Has Visited This Country During His Term of Office.

Montreal.—Lord Loreburn, who has just arrived in Canada, and who will visit New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Washington and other points of interest in the United States before returning home, is the first lord high chancellor of Great Britain to set foot on the shores of the Western Hemisphere, the first lord high chancellor, indeed, to leave his native land during his term of office since the days when Cardinal Wolsey accompanied Henry VIII. to the Field of the Cloth of Gold in France. For the chancellor is the keeper of the great seal, and so great is the importance attached to this emblem of sovereignty, without which no legal value can be given to any acts of state, or to any documents bearing the sign manual of the sovereign, that all sorts of ancient laws, still unrepealed, provide for its custody by the lord high chancellor, who is responsible for its safety.

An old statute declares that it may not be taken out of the kingdom, and one of the offenses for which Cardinal Wolsey was impeached and punished was that he had violated the law by taking the great seal to France when he accompanied Henry VIII. to his memorable meeting with Francis
I. And there are also pains and penalties devised for the chancellor who allows the great seal out of his keeping. So that, what between the difficulty of letting this instrument of power out of his personal care and the impossibility of taking it abroad, the lord high chancellor has always been prevented during his term of office from leaving the country. Speculation is rife as to what disposition Lord Loreburn has made of the great seal during his American tour. He certainly has not brought it with him, and if he has left it at home is must have been surrounded by the most elaborate precautions in order to prevent anyone else from obtaining access to it.

Lord Loreburn as lord high chancellor occupies the highest secular office in the British empire, and is its principal temporal dignitary, ranking immediately after the princess and princesses of the blood royal, before even the Premier and Archbishop of York, and yielding the "pas" only to the primate of all England, the Archbishop of Canterbury. The chan-celorship is not only the most illustrious, but likewise one of the most ancient offices of the realm, the unbroken line of its holders dating back to 1068; that is to say, to two years after the Norman Conquest. It carries with it a seat in the cabinet, a salary of $50,000 a year, a hereditary peerage, the proctorship of the House of Lords and a retiring pension of $30,000 a year for life, even if the woolsack has only been occupied for a few days. In addition to this the lord chancellor enjoys an enormous amount of patronage, having the appointment of all the judges, of high

Britain to Visit United States.

and low degree, from the lord chief justice down to the humblest justice of the peace and county magistrate, and the right of presentation to all the crown livings or ecclesiastical benefices.

Lord Loreburn's principal relations with the United States so far have been his representation of the British interests in the Venezuela arbitration conference at Paris, which brought to a friendly conclusion a quarrel which at one moment threatened to develop into a war between this country and Great Britain. For his services in the matter he was rewarded by Queen Victoria with the Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

FILIPINO BOY'S RECORD.

The Remarkable Ability Displayed by Claro Zumel.

New York.—It is a far cry from the primitive little school-house of Spanish times, in a northern province of the Philippines, to an up-to-date busi-

CLARO ZUMEL.
Filipino Youth Who Has Won an Education Against Great Odds.

ness college with hundreds of students in New York city—from a tiny llocano shaver in a single garment, assiduously studying the "three Rs"
in his native tongue, to a well-educated, well-dressed young man of 21, who is graduated in English, stenography and typewriting—one of six out of a class of 35—after a course of only six months, as an "intelligent and competent amanuensis."

Yet this is the record of Claro Zumel, who has lived less than one year in the United States. If there are many Filipinos as ambitious, as industrious and as capable as he, the Filipino legislature, which is to be convened in October by Secretary Taft, will soon become a real power in the government of the islands.

Born in San Miguel de Samat, a little barrio outside of Laoag, the capital of Ilocos Norte, the youngster, whose father was a tax collector, early conceived the idea of getting an education. To carry out his plans, he helped his mother to raise rice, tobacco and tree cotton mornings and evenings, and spent all his days in the public school. When he was 14 he went to Manila, where he worked in one of the convents of the Spanish friars for a year at the munificent wage of 25 centavos (12½ cents) per month. The following year he entered another church school, where he not only worked hard the greater part of the time for the padres, but began Latin and continued his other studies with the avowed purpose of becoming a priest.

Three years later, on the breaking out of the Filipino revolution, he left the college, since he "no longer wished to have nothing to do with the Spaniards," and, destitute of money and with no friends who were able to help him, he went to work as a muchacho.

But he had not lost his ambition—he had only changed its object, having decided that he wanted a commercial education, and the diploma received by him last week, thousands of miles away from his old home, is the fruition of that purpose.

ROYAL DOCTORS REWARDED.

Heraldic Lion Granted by King Edward to Two of His Physicians.

London.—King Edward, of England,
the "fountain of honor," has granted to Sir Frederick Treves and Sir Francis Laking, baronets, the latter his physician in ordinary and surgeon apothecary and the former his sergeant surgeon, an honorable augmentation to their shields of arms in recognition of their skill and attention during his dangerous illness in 1902.
The honorable augmentation consists of one of the lions of England as borne on the King's own royal arms—a lion passant guardant, gold, on a field gules (red). The shield of Sir Frederick Treves with the augmenta-

The only other instance in which the charges of the royal shield were permitted to be borne on the shield of a member of the medical profession occurred in 1612, when James I. granted to Gideon Lejaune, his apothecary, who obtained the charter for the Apothecaries' society, the gold lion passant guardant of the royal shield,
as well as a fleur de lys of France,
which was then also a charge upon it.

SAM SMALL IS HISSED

NEW YORK TELEGRAPHERS CALL ON PRESIDENT TO RESIGN.

HIS ADVICE IS IGNORED

Though He Wishes to Call Off the Strike, Locals in Many Cities
Vote to Remain
Out.

New York.—The New York local of the Commercial Telegraphers' union at a meeting Sunday voted unanimously to continue the strike against the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies.

The vote was taken upon the suggestion of President Small who, in messages to subordinate officers Saturday pointed out the inability of the general assembly to further finance the strike, and recommended that locals in the various cities vote upon the advisability of the men returning to work.

The meeting was characterized by bitter exchanges between President Small and the other speakers. The latter charged the national leader with inconsistency in first claiming that the strike would be successfully financed and Saturday admitting that the general assembly was without funds; and with having conducted the fight in a half-hearted, dilatory way.

Small tried to explain his position, but was frequently interrupted by hisses. When he suddenly left the hall in the midst of the speechmaking, cries of "Resign" followed him. Saturday night Small issued a statement in which he said he was willing to continue the strike if the men insisted.

When the meeting opened, President Small was given the floor and said: "I am not here to make an argument for or against continuing the strike, but merely to explain why I called for a vote of the locals on the proposition. Saturday Commissioner
Neill informed me that President Clowry had told him that further negotiations were futile. I believe what they say. Our funds are quite exhausted."

Percy Thomas and Daniel Russell replied to Small, scoring him for neglect and incapacity.

Reports received showed that the local unions in Baltimore, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, San Francisco and other cities voted to continue the strike until all demands have been granted.

MARINE OFFICER KILLS SELF.

Strange Death of Lieut. J. N. Sutton
at Annapolis.

Annapolis, Md.—Second Lieut.
James N. Sutton, Jr., United States marine corps, is dead at the Naval academy marine barracks, his death resulting from a bullet fired into the right side of the head.

From the best information obtained,
Sutton in company with Second Lieuts. R. E. Adams and E. P. Roel-ker, returned to the marine camp at 1:30 o'clock Sunday morning, after having attended a dance given at the academy. Shortly afterwards Sutton is said to have been discovered on the road near by with a revolver in his right hand and several fellow officers attempted to disarm him. This they succeeded in doing, but not before the weapon was discharged in some manner, and Lieuts. Adams and Roel-ker received slight wounds. Quick as a flash, it is said, Sutton took from his blouse another revolver and with this fired the fatal shot into his brain.
Lieut. Sutton was 22 years old and the son of James N. Sutton, of Portland, Ore. He was formerly a mid-shipman of the present senior class,
but resigned in his third year.

MAN KILLED, DOZEN HURT.

Accident to Norfolk & Western Passenger Train in Virginia.

Roanoke, Va.—Norfolk & Western passenger train No. 3, west-bound, and an extra coal train east-bound, sideswiped in a cut near Montvale, 16 miles east of Roanoke at four o'clock Sunday afternoon, resulting in the death of one man and the injury of a dozen passengers, none of whom, however, was seriously hurt. The passenger train was loaded with people returning from the Jamestown exposition. The dead man is K. P. Umbrager, express messenger, Wythe-ville, Va.

Burglar Kills Peoria Policeman.

Peoria, Ill.—During a pistol duel with a burglar, who had robbed a residence of several thousand dollars' worth of diamonds, Ed Barrett, a policeman, was shot and killed early Sunday morning. The man escaped.

Steamers Collide: One Sinks.

Detroit, Mich.—One man was killed and the steel steamer John W. Moore was sunk early Sunday in a collision between the Moore and the Queen
City in the Detroit river.

FRIDAY
THE 13TH

A Novel by
THOMAS W. LAWSON
Author of
"Frenzied Finance."

"Jim, you gave me an awful scare," he said brokenly. "Don't ever do it again. I have little left to live for. To be sure I have some feeling for mother, Fred, and sisters. But for you I have a love second only to that I should have felt for Beulah had I been allowed to have her. The thought, Jim, that I had wrecked your life, with all you have to live for, would have been the last straw. My life is purgatory. Beulah is only an ever-present curse to me—a ghost that rends my heart and soul, one minute with a blind frenzy to revenge her wrongs, the next with an icy remorse that I have not already done so. If I did not have her, perhaps in time I could forget; perhaps I might lay out some scheme to help poor devils whose poverty makes life unendurable, and with the millions I have taken from the main shaft of hell I might do things that would at least bring quiet to my soul; but it is impossible with the living corpse of Beulah Sands before me every minute and that devil machinery whirling in my brain all the time the song, 'Revenge her and her father, revenge yourself.' It is impossible to give it up, Jim. I must have revenge. I must stop this machinery that is smashing up more American hearts and souls each year than all the rest of earth's grinders combined. Every day I delay I become more fiendish in my desires. Jim, don't think I do not know that I have literally turned into a fiend. Whenever of late I see myself in the mirror, I shudder. When I think of what I was when your father stood up in his office and started us in this heart-shrivelling, soul-crushing business, and what I am now, I cannot keep the madness down except with rum. You know what it means for me to say this, me who started with all the pride of a Brownley; but it is so, Jim. The other night I went home with my soul frozen with thoughts of the past and with my brain ablaze with rum, intending to end it all. I got out my revolver, and woke Beulah, but as I said, 'Bob is going to kill Beulah and himself,' she laughed that sweet child's laugh, and clapping her hands said, 'Bob is so good to play with Beulah,' and then I thought of that devil Reinhart and the other fiends of the 'System' being left to continue their work unhindered and I could not do it. I must have revenge; I must smash that heart-crushing machinery. Then I can go, and take Beulah with me. Now, Jim, let us have it clearly understood once and for all."

Remorse and softness were past; he was the Indian again. "I am going to wreck that hell-annex some day, and that some day will be the next time I start in. Don't argue with me, don't misunderstand me. To-day you stopped me. I don't know whether you meant what you threatened: I don't care now. It is just as well that I stopped, for the 'System's' machine will be there whenever I start in again. It loses nothing of its fiendishness, none of its destructive powers by grinding, but on the contrary, as you know, it increases its speed every day it runs. Now, Jim Randolph, I want to tell you that you must get yours and the house's affairs in such shape that you won't be hurt when I go into that human rat-pit the next time, for when I come from it the 'System' will have had their spines unfrozen. Yes, and I'll have their hearts out, too. Neither will ever be able to take from the American people their savings and their manhood and womanhood and give them in exchange unadulterated torment. I am going to be fair with you, Jim; this is the last time I will discuss the subject. After this you must take your chance with the rest of those who have to do a line in the cursed business. When I strike again, none will be spared. I will wreck the 'Street' and the universe will go down with the sun. If they have any stocks on hand at that time—

"My power, Jim, is unlimited; nothing can stop it. I am not going to explain my father's. You have seen the work. You must know that my power is greater than the 'System's' and I will land the 'Street' before you can see that the 'System's' are powerful when the 'Street' is gone. The power of the 'Street' is the power of the United States combined, and the 'Street' absolutely controls the foundation of which they rest—the money of the nation. But my power is greater, a thousand, yes, a million times greater than theirs. Jim, they say that I have made more money than any man in the world. They say that I have five hundred millions of dollars, but the fools don't keep track of my movements. They only know that I have pulled five hundred millions from my open whirls, the ones they have had an opportunity to keep tab on. But I tell you that I have made even more in my secret deals than the amount they have seen me take. I have had my agents with my capital in every deal, every steal the 'System' has rigged up. The world has been throwing up its hands in horror because Carnegie, the Wacksmith of Pittsburgh, pulled off three hundred millions of swag in the Steel hold-up—yes, swag, Jim. Don't scowl as though you wanted to read me a lecture on the coarseness of my language. I have learned to call this game of ours by its right name. It is not business enterprise with earned profits as results, but pulled off tricks with bags of loot—black-jack swag—for their end.

"I got axed with three hundred millions when Steel slumped from 105 to 50 and from 50 to 8, and no one knew I'd made a dollar. You and 'the Street' read every morning last year the 'guesses' as to who could be rounding up hundreds of millions on the slump. The papers and the market letters one morning said it was Standard Oil; the next, that it was Morgan; then it was Frick, Schwab, Gates, and so on down through the list. Of course, none of them denied; it is capital to all these knights of the road to be making millions in the minds of the world, even though they never get any of the money. Dick Turpin and Jonathan Wild never were fonder of having the during hold-ups than other highwaymen perpetrated laid to their doors, than are these modern bandits of being credited with ruthless deeds, that they did not commit. But Jim, 'twas I who sold Pennsylvania every morning for a year, while the selling was explained by the press as 'Cassatt cutting down Gould's telegraph poles. Gould and old man Rockefeller selling Pennsylvania to get even.' Jim Randolph, I have to-day a billion dollars, not the Rockefeller or Carnegie kind, but a real billion. If I had no other power but the power to call to-morrow for that billion in cash, it would be sufficient to lay in waste the financial world before to-morrow night. You are welcome, Jim, to any part of that billion, and the more you take the happier you will make me, but when I strike in again, don't attempt to stay me, for it will do no good."

Shortly after this talk Bob left for Europe with Beulah. A great German expert on brain disorders had held out hope that a six months' treatment at his sanitarium in Berlin might aid in restoring her mind. They returned the following August. The trip had been fruitless.

When he left for Europe "the Street" breathed more freely, and as time went by and there was no sign of his confidence-disturbing influence in the market, the "System" began to bring out its deferred deals. Times were ripe for setting up the most wildly inflated stock lamb-shearing traps. It had been advertised throughout the world that Tom Reinhart, now a two hundred time millionaire, was to consolidate his and many other enterprises into one gigantic trust with a few billions of capital. His Union Pacific Southern Pacific railroads, his steamship lines, together with his steamship company and lead, iron, and copper mines, were to be merged with the steel, traction, gas, and other enterprises he owned jointly with Standard Oil. Some of the railroads owned by Rockefeller and his pals, in which Reinhart had no part, were to go in too, and with these was to unite that mother hog of them all, "Standard Oil" itself. The trust was to be an enormous company, the like of which had until then not even been dreamed of by the most daring stock manipulators. The "System's" banks, as well as trust and insurance companies throughout the country, had for a long time been getting into shape by concentrating the money of the country for this monster trust. It was newspaper and news bureau gossip that Reinhart and his crowd had bought millions of shares of the different stocks involved in the deal, and it was common knowledge that upon its successful completion Reinhart's fortune would be in the neighborhood of a billion. On October 1st the certificate of the Anti-People's Trust, $12,000,000,000 capital, 120,000,000 shares, were listed upon the New York, London, and Boston Stock Exchanges, and the German and French Bourses, and trading in them started off fast and furious at 106. The claim that one billion of the twelve billions capital had been set aside to be used in protecting and manipulating the stock in the market, had been so widely advertised that even the most daring plunger did not think of selling it short.

It was evident to all in the stock-gambling world that this was to be the "System's" grand coup, that at its completion the masses would be rudely awakened to a realization that their savings were invested in the combined American industries at vastly inflated values, that the few had all the real money, and that any attempt upon the people's part to regulate and control the new system of robbery, would be fraught with unparalleled disaster—not to the "System," but to the people.

Since Bob's return from Europe I had seen him but a few times. Up to October 1st he had not been near the Stock Exchange or "the Street." Shortly after the listing of the "Pec-pie Be Damned," as "the Street" had dubbed the new trust, he began to show up at his office regularly. This was the condition of affairs when Fred Brownley called me up on the telephone, as I related at the beginning of my story which I did not realize I had been so long in telling.

My thoughts had been chasing each other with lightning-like rapidity back over the last five years and the 15 before them, and each thought deepened the black mist over my present mental vision. In the midst of my reflections my telephone rang again.

"Mr. Randolph, for Heaven's sake have you done nothing yet?" It was Fred Brownley's voice. "Things are frightful here. Bob's brokers are selling stocks at five and ten thousand lot clips. Barry Conant is leading Reinhart's forces. It is said he has the pool's protection order in Anti-People's and that it is unlimited, but Bob has the Reinhart crowd pretty badly scared. Swan has just finished giving Conant a hundred thousand of the real in 10,000 lots, and he told me a moment ago he was going to get Bob himself to face Barry Conant. They're down 20 points on the average, although they haven't let Anti-People's break an eighth yet. They have it pegged at 106, but there is an ugly rumor just in that Bob, under cover of a general attack, is unloading Anti-People's on to the Reinhart wing for Rogers and Rockefeller, and the rumor is setting in its work. Even Barry Conant is growing a bit anxious. The latest talk is that Reinhart is borrowing hundreds of millions on Anti-People's, and that his loans are being called in all directions. Do you know Reinhart is at his place in Virginia and cannot get here before to-morrow night? If Bob breaks through Anti-People's peg, it will be the worst crash yet."

BASIS OF WEALTH

MOTHER EARTH KIND TO ALL HER CHILDREN.

THE GREATNESS OF NATIONS

Utilization of Natural Resources Goes
Hand in Hand with Civilization—Exhaustible and Renewable Riches.

Old mother earth is the basis of all wealth. Greatness of nations is commensurate with the degree of utilization of the mineral elements and other products, all of which are the result of natural laws. The higher the civilization the greater and the more economical are the uses of the earth's resources. In the great commercial and manufacturing centers of the world is found the superior intelligence. Wherever there is industry there flourishes civilization. With the decay of commercial importance nations retrograde and lose power, and finally find a place in history only.

Wealth of countries can be divided into two classes; that which is exhaustible, and that which is renewable. The exhaustible is the mineral wealth, gold, silver, iron, copper, and all the useful metals—coal, salt, sulphur, oil and mineral products which once utilized in manufacture and commerce are not renewable. The renewable wealth is entirely in the vegetable and animal kingdom and nearly all of it is included in the field of agriculture, using the word in its broadest sense, and is represented by the crops of cereals, vegetables, fruits, fibrous plants, the useful gums, such as rubber, the woods of trees and all that is of utility in the arts and manufactures.

The wealthiest nations, and those that give promise of the longest existence, are those that possess abundance of both exhaustible and renewable wealth. Both classes afford a field for manufacture and commerce. The nation that lacks the conditions necessary for the production of renewable wealth, and only has exhaustible wealth, will eventually find its resources for self-sustenance at an end, and will of necessity become dependent upon some other nation.

No other nation possesses such diversified resources as does the United States. With mineral resources that will require ages of time to utilize, the millions upon millions of rich timber and agricultural lands representing renewable wealth, and every natural advantage for manufacture, within its vast territory hundreds of millions of people can find homes and sustenance for thousands of years to come, and if necessary supply other nations with a surplus of its products. Thus the nation will grow richer through disposing of its renewable wealth for what represents the labor and the exhaustible wealth of less favored nations.

The countries comprising Great Britain have little renewable wealth according to population, and relies chiefly upon exhaustible resources, their utilization in manufacture and the value of the labor of its people in manufacture for commerce of articles from the raw products, both mineral and vegetable, imported from her dependencies and other nations. It is plain that the nation that exchanges its raw, exhaustible wealth for the renewable wealth of another country will grow poorer, and the nation that receives this exhaustible wealth in exchange for its renewable wealth will grow richer.

Principles that apply to nations in this regard, are also applicable to integral parts of nations, and in a republic like the United States, to its states and lesser communities. Thus it is patent that the state or community that employs its people in manufacturing from its products to the greatest extent, instead of having them go to the markets of the world in a raw state, and retains within its borders the profits accruing from labor employed in the production of its articles of commerce, will advance in wealth and importance.

SAPS LOCAL WEALTH.

Systems That Draw from Circulation
Money That Should Be Kept Home.

That city, town or community from which the major part of the earnings of the people are sent elsewhere is destined to go backward and take a place in the rear of progressive communities. It will never have the full quota of wealth that is due it, and that it should have. It is the profits, the amounts that represent the surplus above cost of production of products, and the earnings of the laborer above his expenses of living, and the legitimate profits of the merchants and others in business that makes a community wealthy. When these earnings are diverted to foreign places, their local tax-paying and up-building power is destroyed and the places receiving the money acquire a benefit. If you desire to see the greatest measure of prosperity in your own town, keep every dollar you can in circulation at home. The bank corporation or individual that has its existence elsewhere and has a mortgage on your farm or other property, enjoys a means of making you bear a portion of the burden of taxes of another section than your own. It matters not by what means your money reaches outside your own bailiwick, it results in the same evil. You are helping those who pay none of the cost of maintaining the institution of your town and county.

THRIFT AND ECONOMY.

Right Thinking Necessary to Great Success in Every Field of Endeavor.

Economy is one of the essentials to success. It matters not how great one's earnings may be, if there is no pennies laid by, there will be no counting of dollars to your credit. From childhood children should be taught lessons of thrift, and the value of saving. There is a difference between economy and stinginess. There is an excess which defeats the aim, and is the cause of loss and misery.

That economy which prevents the farmer from spending money to properly house his stock during the winter, is paradoxical. It is a saving of dollars and the loss of dollars by the saving. That so-called economy which prevents the consuming of fuel in winter, which results in a cold house and sickness in the family, and perhaps a death, is niggardly stinginess, which is criminal. It is the saving of a few dollars in the coal bill, and paying perhaps a hundred or more to the doctor or the undertaker. There is no economy in cheap things generally. A bit of machinery that is needed about the farm should be the best. A cheap, poor mowing machine from some mail order house may break down when it is needed the most, and a result is the loss of tons of hay several times the value of a good machine. Poor articles wear out rapidly, and are likely to give out at a time when most needed, and are a continual source of expense. A poor breed of stock is another illustration. Poor, bony horses cost more than well bred ones, and the latter always find a ready sale, while the raw-bones cannot be disposed of at any price. The same with hogs, sheep, and all classes of domestic stock. A poor lot of animals should be gotten rid of as soon as possible. They are expensive and it is poor economy to keep them.

It is in looking after the saving of a penny and being blind to the dollar that could be gained that is the trouble with many. Savages have no idea of economy. They cannot forego a small pleasure for a greater one a little farther off. It is the ability to think out these matters that makes the civilized man superior to the barbarian. Think! Don't get tired of using the reasoning brain that a good Providence has given you. The secret of knowledge is in thinking, and the power to make comparison. One of the drawbacks of many schools is the teaching, the cramming of rules and facts without combining with them the importance of cause and effect. Teach one to think, and he will soon be a person of no mean knowledge. It is the thinker who wins in life, and on the farm, in the workshop, in the store, anywhere and everywhere, where brains are needed, you will find it is the active, keen and careful thinker who forges to the front.

D. M. CARR.

INTERESTS ARE EQUAL.

Farmers Should Cooperate with Towns people in Work of Municipal Improvement.

Among the many plans devised to further the interests of small towns and cities, and which has proved most successful, is the commercial clubs in which all business men of the community cooperate for the common good. Organizations of this class are almost a necessity in any town where harmony is desired among the different business classes in the carrying out of plans for town improvement, securing the enterprises of various kinds and the general good of all in the community. There is no reason why these clubs in their membership should be confined to the residents of the town. The farmers in the neighborhood are as deeply interested in the success of town enterprises as are the business men of the place, or at least they should be. For what will help along the town towards prosperity will also help the farmer.

In many localities there is a sentiment that the interests of the farmer and the business men are not parallel. It is necessary that this feeling be obliterated as far as possible because there is no logical foundation for it. The better the town is the better the local market for the farmers' produce; the more equitable will be taxation and the better educational facilities. All these are matters that concern the farmer in the immediate neighborhood of the town. Many business men feel that a membership in clubs organized for promotion of two industries should be confined to business men; that perhaps the farmer would not be in accord with residents of the town in matters of public improvements. This is an error, a lack of confidence in the good judgment of the average farmer, who will generally realize how important the home town is to him, and all his neighbors. Then the farmer sometimes thinks that he is not welcome in an association of business men, perhaps because he has never been invited to take part in meetings held to discuss matters pertaining to town affairs. There is no good reason why these sentiments should exist. It is only by a harmonious pulling together of the residents of the rural districts and the business men that the greatest good can be brought about for the home town.

Insurance.

"You'd better take out some life insurance."
"Go on, I'm so healthy I won't die for 60 years yet."
"But if you get a policy you'll probably work yourself to death paying premiums."

PIE AND PRESIDENCY

SECRETARY CORTELYOU FOND OF THE PASTRY.

New England Press Comments on Psychological and Political Questions
Involved in Connection With Appetite.

Presidential candidates on the Republican side cannot fail to note the earnestness with which the Boston Transcript and other New England journals seize upon the fact that the Hon. George B. Cortelyou is a regular and discriminating consumer of pie at luncheon. Since the publication of details concerning the leading factors in Mr. Cortelyou's midday repast, the press of New England has been teeming with comment upon the psychological and political questions involved. Some of the Yankee papers insinuate that the publication of the Cortelyou luncheon menu meant the launching of the Cortelyou presidential boom, while others think the revelation of Mr. Cortelyou's pie eating proclivities makes him ipso facto and par excellence, the New England candidate. From either point of view the pie discovery assumes political importance. "There may be much in this apparently simple fact," observes the Boston Transcript, with typical conservatism. Much? Decidedly much, when the truth is grasped that it is mince pie that attracts the secretary of the treasury. From an "apparently simple fact" the discovery assumes aspects extremely complicated, obscure, and potential. The Boston paper does not fail to note that Mr. Cortelyou was a New Englander in the most plastic period of his life, where he absorbed not only pie itself, but the history and influence of pie in character molding and nation building. The clam pie of Marblehead, that great breakfast food that has made its survivors indestructible in war and obdurate in peace, is no stranger to George B. Cortelyou. Nor is he unacquainted with the pumpkin pie that sustained the Green mountain boys in many a scrimmage. He knows and admires the voluptuous custard and the cranberry that coquettes under its crisscross mask. He has prosecuted many an investigation of the fair seeming but explosive huckleberry, and the apple, cherry, peach and prune have not prevailed against him. But with the access of wider experience and augmented confidence, Mr. Cortelyou finds his chief delight in the pie of pies, the protean, subtle, and mysterious mince. In it he finds food for thought, intimations vague but inspiring, manifold memories and mysteries which baffle while they stimulate his keen and analytical assault. Mince pie is the food of mature man. It is the cosmopolis of pie yielding treasures to the true lover of research, but completely bewildering the untutored. George B. Cortelyou's devotion to mince pie may make him the choice of New England for president, but it is unjust to insinuate that he is trying to reach the white house by the mince pie route. Mince pie has helped to make him what he is. He is not the man to turn his back upon his friends nor to use them as his ladders. If the discovery of his long association with mince pie brings him political honor, it will be merely another piece of good fortune in a singularly fortunate career. He has not advertised his intimacy with mince pie, but, on the other hand, now that the truth is known, he will not desert the friend of his youth and the prop of his maturity. If he goes to the white house, mince pie will be honored there.

New Fairbanks Hostess.

"The prettiest woman in America," said Burne-Jones of Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks, nee Edith Cassidy of Pittsburgh, and now wife of Warren C. Fairbanks, the vice president's oldest son.

Mrs. Fairbanks, Jr., ran down from the Fairbanks country place in Massachusetts to New York one day recently, looking bewitching in a gown of tailored white cloth, made with the long coat styles she affects. She explained her presence thus:

"You see, dear mother (meaning Mrs. Fairbanks, wife of the vice president) is still too ill to assume the social duties of her position next fall, and as Mrs. Timmons, her daughter, is temporarily unable to substitute for her charming mother, it is 'up to me' to be chateleine for the next winter. So I am bolstering up my gowns by having some fetching new ones made here by my favorite modiste."

Mrs. Fairbanks, accompanied by her small daughter, who already shows promise of her mother's beauty, has been spending the summer on the Fairbanks farm in Massachusetts. Affordable and lovable in disposition, it is anticipated that she will make a delightful hostess of the Fairbanks menage in Washington.

Women in Government Service.

The retiring director of the mint in Washington has recommended that his private secretary, Miss Henrietta M. Kelly, be kept in the same place and her salary increased from $1,600 to $2,000 a year. There are but few women who hold executive offices under the government. Among them are Miss Anna R. Roe, chief of the numbering division, and Miss Annie E. Beale, chief of the examining division in the Bureau of engraving and printing. Both these women have been in the service for many years, have received their promotions on their merits and receive the full salary of their offices, $2,000 a year.

RAISING SILK WORMS.

William G. Hearne, a child wife's son, is the father of W. H. Hearne, who is now attending an engineering school and will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of the state. He is 20 years old. A few months ago he was elected president of the St. Louis M. S. Hearne appears on the ticket for the state. Mr. Hearne is a native born citizen. He was a member of the state and national organizations. Hearne is a brother of T. A. Hearne, president of the Columbia, Miss., & Iron company, who died

In this country the rearing of silk worms has been a success whenever attempted, but for some reason has never been tried on a large scale. Of late years the government has been conducting experiment to determine the value of domestic reared worms and the results of these investigations have been embodied in reports. Private interests in the south and California have experimented with the same end in view. A large farm has recently been bought by Louis B. Magid at Tallulah Falls, La., whereon silkworms are to be grown in a mammoth cocoonery.

"Make me up a package of tobacco according to the formula used by Edw. Win. Booth," said the man with a southern accent. "That is the third man who has asked for that kind of tobacco to-day," said the dealer. "It is strange that people from remote parts of the country as well as New Yorkers make a fad of buying the same brand of tobacco that Booth smoked. And it isn't always the Booth mixture that they want. I have filed away the formulas for mixing the favorite tobacco of many famous persons. Smokers the country over have heard of this collection of recipes and one feature of every man's trip to New York is to try a pipeful of some big man's favorite tobacco. In most cases this special mixture is so strong that the nerves of the average smoker cannot stand it. He has to give up after a few pipefuls and go back to a popular mixture, but he has the satisfaction of having had the experience."—The New York Sun.

"Now my dear," the husband continues, "you know that political affairs are not love feasts, by any means. You must expect to see me vilified and attacked in a scandalous manner. No doubt the opposition will try to dig up sensational rumors about me, and all that sort of thing, but you must not—"

"Well," she interrupts, "I am really glad of it. You have always been strangely silent about whether or not you ever were engaged to anyone before you met me."

How have the hypothetical scientists and the exponents of unbelief benefited themselves or humanity at large by sowing the seeds of doubt broadcast in the world? The real scientists do not fall in this category, for they are believers in the real sense of the word; they know too much, they have seen too many mysterious manifestations of the Divine creative power. Now, those who have disposed of the Bible and all evidences of inspiration, have written a great many books and some of them have won what the world at large lightly calls fame. According to the ordinary measures that are applied in such cases, they have been extremely successful, but real success means the benefit of humanity in some form or other. If no such benefits can be shown as the result of their labors, their success is not equal to that achieved by the direct poverty and the deepest ignorance. — Joel Chandler, in Uncle Remus' Magazine

Kay Spence, a well-known horseman of Mexico, Mo., won $1,000 at the Louisville, Ky., race meeting a short time ago as the result of a "hunch." Mr. Spence has a large breeding stable of "runners" near Mexico, and attends all the big racing events in the country. Not long since he was in Louisville and entered the betting ring to see what odds were being offered on the various entries. He found that Joaquin was the favorite at even money, and pulled his wallet from his pocket, intending to bet on that horse. His attention was attracted by something that fell from his wallet to the ground, and he stooped and picked it up. It was a Chinese laundry ticket. He looked at the "books" again and found that there was an entry with a Chinese name, Wing Ting, at ten to one. That settled it, for he considered he had received a "hunch" that could not be overlooked. Wing Ting won handsily. Needless to say, those who backed the favorite considered Spence the seventh son of the seventh son.—Kansas City Star.

Gen. Lee's War Horse.

When Gen. Lee came to Lexington in 1965 to accept the presidency of Washington College, he rode Traveler, and the faithful animal was his riding horse until the death of Gen. Lee. Many times did the old confederate chief gaze over the beautiful hills surrounding Lexington on the back of his patient old horse. Traveler died in June following the death of his master. Gen. Lee died in October, 1870. The old horse while grazing in the park of the president's house, on the campus of Washington and Lee, ran a nail in his foot, which resulted in lockjaw, and this caused his death. The body was buried long after

"That is what ruined me, and I want to start life anew without the ruin," concluded the prisoner.

"The clerk of the court will enter an order to that effect," said the judge, "and I commend the defendant for his determination to reform."

We leave it to the public now, as we did when we first resented Collier's attacks, to say whether, in a craving for sensation and circulation, its attacks do not amount to a systematic mercenary hounding. We likewise leave it to the public to say whether Collier's, by its own policy and meth-
